NOT A CHANCE FOR FORDNEY
BILL TO PASS

President Wilson's Veto Is Sure to Put Quietus to Emergency Measure.

DEMOCRATS ARE GLEEFUL

Want to Place H. C. O. L. Responsibility on Republican Colleagues.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921)

Washington, D. C.—There isn't the slightest chance that the emergency tariff bill which passed the House and is now being considered in the Senate will ever become a law.

Even if the Republicans should apply the cloture rule and end the Democratic filibuster, the measure would be vetoed by President Wilson when it reached the White House. And there is a good deal of evidence that the Democrats would gladly accept a cloture rule and hasten a veto because most of them see in this bill the first party advantage out of the bill that has appeared on the political horizon since election day.

The Democrats with true political sagacity would not be averse to seeing the Republicans pass a bill the admitted effect of which might be an increase in the cost of living. Senators Simmons of North Carolina, King of Tennessee and Harrison of Mississippi have drawn from their opponents the admission that the passage of the Fordney bill would increase the price of sugar to the housewife, and they are preparing to show that the measure will go even further in adding to the burdens of the consuming public.

The truth is that the heart of eastern Republicans is not behind the bill at all and that they would like to see it die at the hands of a White House veto. But Senator Johnson is supporting it just as are other Republicans from the east because it is deemed advisable to maintain party solidarity for the next session when general tariff revision instead of class tariffs will be up for discussion.

Democrats Bolting

Moreover, many Democrats who at first intended to vote for the Fordney are getting cold feet. They see the party advantage in opposing a measure which increases the cost of living. Even if the bill should pass the Senate and be vetoed by the president, friends of the measure admit there aren't enough votes in both houses to make the necessary two-thirds. Several of the Democrats in the House who vote for the bill on first passage will not do so the next time as the Democratic ranks have been considerably strengthened in the interval.

The fact that the pending tariff bill might benefit the sugar producers but might adversely affect the consuming public was brought out strikingly in the Senate debate as follows:

Senator King of Utah, (Democrat)— I have a great deal of confidence in the senator from North Dakota and in his desire to legislate for the interest of the American people. I have no doubt he has studied the question with much care, and I should like to ask him, in the light of his study of the question, what effect the pending tariff bill, if it shall be enacted into law, will have, directly and indirectly, upon the sugar purchaser—that is, the consuming public in the United States—to what extent it will raise prices.

Will Raise Prices

Senator McCumber of North Dakota (Republican)—I think temporarily it will raise prices, and naturally so.

Mr. King of Utah—Has the senator any idea how much the tariff duty will cost the consuming public and how much it will inure to the advantage of the sugar producer?

Mr. McCumber—Today it is a question of life and death to the cane-sugar producers. I believe in maintaining the sugar industry of the United States; I think in the end it will be beneficial to do so. I think it may cost the American public a little more, just now, to purchase their sugar should the bill become a law, but I think it is better that we should make the sugar industry in this country self-sustaining.

Mr. King of Utah—Has the senator from North Dakota any idea of how many millions, tens of millions, or hundreds of millions of dollars will be added to the burdens of the purchasers of sugar as a result of the enactment of this measure?

Mr. McCumber—I think it will be very few hundreds of millions if it adds to their burdens at all.

Class Legislation

Mr. King—The senator has called attention to the fact that unless this measure was passed the sugar industry might suffer materially. May I ask the senator whether it was the purpose of the finance committee to take care of all business enterprises in the United States in all lines of industry that were suffering during the present period of readjustment? If that be true, then we should take care of the laboring men who are thrown out of employment, we should take care of retailers who without fault have sustained great losses; we should take care of the cotton growers who have been compelled to sell their cotton at a price well below the market at all times; we should take care of the wool growers who are compelled to pay the wool growers.

The shooting occurred in an orchard near his home.

Figures In Orange Diamond Mystery

Here are pictures of the principal characters in the "diamond murder mystery" which is stirring up Madison and the middlewest. Mrs. Richard S. Lawrence, charges her husband, a wealthy miser, was murdered and his wealth, including an orange diamond worth $100,000, was stolen.
She also charges the body of a ragged stranger was buried for that of her husband and later a substitution of bodies was made. Mrs. Louise Vale, Lawrence's stepdaughter, assisted in trying to solve the mystery until she contracted influenza and died. District Attorney Lewis is directing investigation of the case.

NO HOPE FOR QUICK
PEACE WITH BRITAIN

DeValera Says Sinn Fein Is Willing to Accept Full Home Rule.

By United Press Leased Wire

Dublin.—Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," replying to a questionnaire submitted by American newspaper correspondents, indicated that hope of immediate peace with Great Britain has been shattered.
Replying to a question as to whether he had received any British peace offers, De Valera wrote:

"Yes, the same as those for the last seven centuries—namely, meekly to surrender and quietly allow ourselves to be trampled."

De Valera indicated that the Sinn Fein is willing to accept full dominion home rule when he wrote that "the present dominions have all the rights which the Irish republic demands."

The questionnaire outlined the Irish peace terms as follows:

"England to acknowledge Ireland's right as a free and independent nation as a preliminary because an agreement made under force or a supposed partnership which Ireland denies, would be worthless."

"Britain should afterward negotiate with Ireland such partnership or alliance as the common interests of both might suggest, or on such terms as the people of both countries might agree upon. The people of Ireland have never denied the existence of such common interest. We have clearly shown that we do not insist on a policy of isolation."

SHEBOYGAN ORDERED TO USE CHLORINE IN WATER

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Sheboygan today was ordered to treat all city water with liquid chlorine after March 15 by the state board of health in an effort to stamp out typhoid prevalent there for several years.

The city water is taken from Lake Michigan and used without treatment. At the same time city sewage is dumped into the lake.

SHOOTS DIVORCED WIFE,
THEN KILLS HIMSELF

By United Press Leased Wire
Covington, Ky.—William Vickers, 46, shot and killed his former wife and then committed suicide here this afternoon.

Police said the tragedy followed application of the woman to the courts for an order restraining her husband from abusing her.

Child Dies As Father Labors
On Murder Jury

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—As Alderman John Hur-ber, with eleven other men, decided early today the fate of Herbert Conk-right, charged with murder, the alder-man's daughter died.

The juror was not told of his daughter's death until a verdict of "guilty" had been reached and the sentence fixed at eighteen years.

The state had demanded the death penalty.

Shortly before the case was given into the jury's hands, court was adjourning while the father visited the bedside of his dying daughter.

As the jurors could not be separated, the other eleven men went into the sick room. They stood nearby with bowed heads as the father knelt beside the girl's bed and pleaded for her to speak—to recognize him.

Conkright shot and killed Mrs. Eva Wyatt after she had left her husband and child to live with him. The state demanded the death penalty.

BIG AUTO PLANTS
RESUME ON MONDAY

By United Press Leased Wire

Detroit.—Four automobile companies and two automobile body building companies will begin production with a total working force of 50,000 men Monday.

The companies are: Hudson Motor company; Cadillac Motorcar company; Ford Motorcar company; Standard Motor Truck company; Fisher Body company; Briggs Body company.

Officials of all of the above companies today announced the re-opening. The announcement yesterday that the Ford Motor company would resume partial production Monday had a stimulating effect on the entire motor industry, it was believed and announcement of the opening of other companies is expected soon.

10,560 BADGERS WERE INFLUENZA VICTIMS

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Influenza cost 10,560 lives during the winters of 1918, 1919 and 1920, it has been announced by the state board of health. The state board in arriving at the death toll deducted from the lists, assigning flu as the cause, the average number of deaths from pneumonia each year.

The state board has asked the joint finance committee to increase its appropriation from $145,000 to $245,000 in order to increase its public health work.

BOOZE FOUND IN GASSNER SALOON

Prohibition Officials Raid Five Saloons Friday—One Violates Law

Abiding by their promise to rid Appleton of prohibition law violators three federal officials raided five saloons Friday afternoon. Liquor was found only in John Gassner's barroom run in connection with a hotel opposite Chicago and Northwestern depot.
The booze was confiscated for evidence and the case will be laid before the grand jury at Milwaukee.

The officials were armed with search warrants for each of the places entered and were assisted by Chief George T. Prim and Detectives John Duvall and Joseph Schmirler of the police department. None of the saloons searched were included in previous raids which led to conviction of several well known saloonkeepers.

Four of the saloons revealed no liquor of alcoholic content beyond the legal limit. At the Gassner place the officials found about a gallon of whisky, some gin, wine and what is believed to be moonshine, although it requires an official test. The liquor will be shipped to Milwaukee for evidence.

WANTS HOLY JUMPERS TO RETURN PROPERTY

By United Press Leased Wire
Waukesha, Wis.—The Metropolitan Church association, commonly known as the Holy Jumpers, and its head, E.
L. Harvey and wife, today were given twenty days in which to answer charges filed against the church by Miss Lillian Swanson of Chicago.

Miss Swanson charges that in March 1919, while a resident of Chicago, she was induced by missionaries of the church to turn over her personal property to the organization on promise of being made a missionary of the organization. She further claimed that this request was complied with but instead of being made a missionary, she was kept in the church office here for a year, spending most of her time mailing calendars. She asks return of property valued at $470.

GETS DIVORCE NO. 2
FROM SAME HUSBAND

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul.—Mrs. Minerva F. Ramsey stated divorced from Rev. James R.
Ramsey the second time today. A divorce was granted last year when she testified her husband had frequently had intimate relations with Miss Olga Carlson, his stenographer, while traveling from town to town as organizer for a fraternal body.

Ramsey was arrested some time ago charged with violation of the Mann act in bringing Miss Carlson from Milwaukee to St. Paul.

Mrs. Ramsey was granted custody of a son.

The Ramseys were married in Leander, W. Va., Jan. 21, 1896, and divorced the first time in Texas in April, 1915. They were remarried at Kansas City June 7, 1916.

Ramsey made his home in Appleton
with Miss Carlson for several weeks
while he was engaged as organizer for a fraternal organization. He is said to have represented Miss Carlson
as his wife.

WETS MOVE TO KILL BADGER LIQUOR LAWS

Declare Mulberger Act Is in Conflict With Volstead Enforcement Law.

DRY LEADERS ARE READY

Decision Favoring Liquor Interests Will Make Badger Law Inoperative.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—The wet and dry forces of Wisconsin are lining up for the final battle through the courts on the question of concurrent jurisdiction.

The initial fight will be staged in Madison when Ralph M. Jackman, attorney for wet interests, will apply for a temporary restraining order in United States court to prevent T. T.
Hazelberg from enforcing the Mul-berger law, Wisconsin's enforcement act.

The wet interests will contend that the state enforcement act is contrary to the provisions of the Volstead act and that the federal law supersedes the state law.

Should the courts adhere to this principle, a restraining order will follow and state enforcement authorities held powerless in preventing the sale of liquor.

"I shall start this action in a few days," declared Attorney Jackman today.

"It will be a suit in equity brought in the federal court here. Two propositions will be involved; that the state law is in conflict with the Volstead act and that the federal law supersedes the state law when the two are at variance."

The dry interests have anticipated the suit and are prepared to meet the new issues. It was stated by officials of the Anti-Saloon league today. The Anti-Saloon league and the Proprietary association will assist the attorney general's office, it was stated by P. W. Hutton, Waukesha, league representative.

The issue is said to have been brought to a head when the state enforcement authorities refused permit for the sale of wine of pequin where it was believed to be sold for beverage purposes.

Liquor interests represented by Attorney Jackman denied the wine of pequin ruling forced action. It was coming anyway, Jackman said, and will be carried to the United States court for final adjudication.

"I cannot say who my clients are at this time," Jackman said.

"However, I have been paid the money to start the litigation and I assure you we shall go through with it. The large brewing interests of Milwaukee are not in anyway involved in this suit."

HOW IS UNCLE SAM
GOING TO COLLECT?

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Burglars and bootleggers owe the government $44,000, 000 in taxes on incomes "earned" during 1920, it was estimated here today as the internal revenue bureau made ready to receive more than 3,000,000 returns for the calendar year just past.

Those who indulge in a "friendly little game" should pay Uncle Sam approximately $80,000,000 from the national "kitty" of approximately $2, 000,000,000 if they wish to make correct returns on their incomes.

Bootleggers during 1920 are estimated to have made profits totaling at least $20,000,000 while more than $2, 000,000,000 a year is computed to change hands annually in the United States as a result of bets placed on card games, horse races and other operations where chance decides the ownership of the lucre.

JURY ASKS MERCY FOR CONVICTED BURGLAR

Cincinnati—Jack Tydale, 22, of Hamilton, Ont., was under conviction today on a charge of burglary, but the jury recommended mercy. He was accused of being the lookout for two men convicted of robbing a grocery.

Tydale said he was at the front three years with the Canadian army. He said he did not know a robbery was being staged and alleged a detective who arrested him in a hotel had him because he did not get out of bed fast enough.

Ramsey made his home in Appleton
with Miss Carlson for several weeks
while he was engaged as organizer
for a fraternal organization. He is said to have represented Miss Carlson
as his wife.

Premiers Agreed On Germany's War Bill

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris—The agreement fixing the amount of German war reparations was signed by the allied premiers at Versailles this afternoon.

The protocol also fixed the dates for successive stages of German disarmament.

Official announcement was made that agreement distributed the annuities as follows:

Two of two billion gold marks each, three of three billion; three of four billion; three of five billion and thirty-one of six billion.

The exports tax will be 12 1/2 per cent.

The Brussels financial conference will reopen Feb. 7 and the reparations terms will be communicated to the Germans in London Feb. 28.

The disarmament periods have been prolonged to March 15, April 15 and July 1.

Premier Lloyd George will leave for London tomorrow.

The question of penalties for non-fulfillment is expected to result in a courtroom. The allied premiers wanted occupation of the Ruhr district, while the British favored occupation of Hamburg. It was believed they would agree on seizure of the railroads and customs offices in addition to the regular treaty provisions.

The Austrian situation was taken up this afternoon, Premier Briand of France said.

"The allies are fully in accord," Briand told the correspondents.

"We are closer in agreement than ever before. There was absolute cordiality throughout today's conference.

"There was no difficulty in arranging the coal settlements. Penalties provided in the treaty of Versailles will be enforced in case the disarmament problem is not taken up. Austria will be discussed this afternoon."

Chicago—Wages of railroad workers must come down if the companies are to weather the industrial storm.
Means of driving down the wages had not been decided upon by the labor committee of the association of railway executives in session here today.

Agreement was reached among the five members of the committee that drastic action must be taken immediately and that they would remain in session until they had decided what this action would be. They hope to make announcement on Monday of what steps will be taken.

Best information today was that the railroads would carry their case to the public, offering to reduce freight and passenger rates, provided they can lower the wage scale.

Another plan under consideration was to appeal to the railroad brother-hoods to accept a "voluntary" cut within the next 30 days. However, the brotherhoods are known to be prepared to oppose any attempt at reduction and labor board is doubtful if this would prove successful. In the event of its failure, they would go immediately before the United States railroad labor board and demand
"emergency relief."

Railroad brotherhoods obtained the last increase for the men on the basis of "emergency relief."

Whatever plan is adopted, a strong effort will be made by the railroads to obtain the public support and approval of their action. Some members of the labor committee suggested making public "payroll secrets" which to have been shadowed for several days by detectives investigating the mysterious abduction of Mrs. Gladys asserted they looked for the "break" in the case here.

Mrs. Withersell has been missing since Tuesday night when she was seen leaving her Hollywood home in company with a tall, gray haired man.

Officers declared the "Greek merchant" theory is the most promising clue yet discovered. A certain Greek merchant, they said, is believed to have reasons for wishing to harm the Withersell family. The man is a known enemy of a certain member of the family, and was heard to remark on the morning of Mrs. Withersell's strange disappearance that the only way to even the score was to "make the whole family suffer."

ALIEN LAND LAW

California Avers Orientals Have

Washington.—The agreement between Ambassador Morris and Ambassador Shidehara of Japan, created a situation that is "intolerable" and that will be resisted in every legiti-mate way by the people of California, Senator Hiram Johnson, California, declared today.

While Johnson was attacking the proposal, Secretary of State Colby was conferring with President Wilson at the White House for the first time since the secretary left for South America about six weeks ago.
It was expected that the Morris-Shidehara agreement would be discussed during the conference.

Johnson declared that the agreement abrogates and destroys the alien land law of California, and gives Japan just what it wants, in the controversy over Japanese rights in the state.

The agreement he referred to is now in the hands of Secretary of State Colby having been submitted to him by Morris, following the closing of negotiations between him and Shidehara here this week.

"From authoritative source," said Johnson, "it is stated that the agreement between Ambassadors Shidehara and Morris embraces:

"(1)—An exchange of diplomatic notes defining passport regulations, etc., which would 'lighten up' the present gentleman's agreement relating to exclusion of Japanese from this country, and.

"(2)—A treaty defining the rights of the nationals of each country and which will, in effect, abrogate and destroy the alien land laws of the state of California."

WOMEN BOWLERS
OPEN TOURNAMENT

Fairly Good Scores Are Rolled in Opening Games Thursday Night.

The Friday evening bowling team rolled up a score of 625 Thursday evening in the first game of the girls' team bowling tournament, defeating the Thursday evening team which rolled 421 in the first game. The Monday team lost to the Tuesday team, 527 to 555 in the first game and 575 to 562 in the second game. Each team played two games.

Following are the individual scores: Monday team—Nona Gerlach 105, Mabel Sibley 111—39; Lynda Hummel 135—115; Adele Buske 84—129; Laura Bohn 94—118, making totals of 629 and 562.

Tuesday team—Sylvia Roubush 141—125; Martha Wilson, 96—110; Gertrude Kessler 90—90; Irene Bloomer 81—92; Ruth Welmar 129—156, making totals of 557 and 575.

Thursday team—Olga Olson 120—110; Emma Johnson 88—66; Helen Weeks 65—97; Laura Flynn 100—97; Muriel Kelley 87—85, making totals of 421 and 455.

EARLY BIRD AT BANQUET WILL GET FINE PRIZE

It will be worthwhile for sportsmen who will attend the annual dinner of the Outagamie County Fish and Game Protective association Monday evening, Feb. 7, to get around early. Secretary G. L. Chamberlain has secured a quantity of artificial bait from the South Bend Bait Co., which will be given to the first fifty persons in the banquet hall. The bait is valued at $20 but there is not enough of it to distribute it to all the guests so he has hit on this method for distribution. The hall will be opened at 6:30 and dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock.

BIG ULCER
ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Medina

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 25 cents a large box."

Read this letter, written February 14, 1918, by Mrs. Albert Southcott, of Medina, N. Y. It seems like a miracle but it is true, every word of it.

CONCRETE ROADS HARD ON MAIL MAN'S PURSE

Concrete roads have their disadvantages in winter when they are not snow covered. A rural mail carrier who travels about 15 miles every day with a horse-drawn rig finds that the animal wears out a set of shoe calks in a day. At the present cost of 10 cents apiece for calks he finds it quite expensive to keep his horse sharp shoe.

The calks have a hard steel center surrounded by softer metal. Ordinarily the center would wear down more slowly and thus provide a continuous sharp point, but steady travel on concrete wears the calks down evenly, partially destroying their effectiveness on icy spots.

NIAGARA FALLS MILL IS STARTED THIS WEEK

The new papermill of the Kimberly-Clark Co. in Niagara Falls, N. Y., began manufacture of paper this week. Construction work on the plant was started last spring. The new mill is one of the largest in the world. The machinery is electrically operated and is of the most modern design.

It is said the book machine now in operation is the largest of its kind in the country. It can turn out a sheet 72 inches wide. Installation of a second machine is now underway.

NOT A CHANCE FOR FORDNEY BILL TO PASS

President Wilson's Veto Is Sure to Put Quietus to Emergency Measure.

DEMOCRATS ARE GLEEFUL

Want to Place H. C. O. L. Responsibility on Republican Colleagues.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921)

Washington, D. C.—There isn't the slightest chance that the emergency tariff bill which passed the House and is now being considered in the Senate will ever become a law.

Even if the Republicans should apply the cloture rule and end the Democratic filibuster, the measure would be vetoed by President Wilson when it reached the White House. And there is a good deal of evidence that the Democrats would gleefully accept a cloture rule and hasten a veto because most of them see in this bill the first party advantage out of the bill that has appeared on the political horizon since election day.

The Democrats with true political sagacity would not be averse to seeing the Republicans pass a bill the admitted effect of which might be an increase in the cost of living. Senators Simmons of North Carolina, King of Utah and Harrison of Mississippi have drawn from their opponents the admission that the passage of the Fordney bill would increase the price of sugar to the housewife, and they are preparing to show that the measure will go even further in adding to the burdens of the consuming public.

The truth is that the heart of eastern Republicans is not behind the bill at all and that they would like to see it die at the hands of a White House veto. But Senator Jenness is supporting it just as are other Republicans from the east because it is deemed advisable to maintain party solidarity for the next session when general tariff revision instead of class tariffs will be up for discussion.

Democrats Bolting

Morover, many Democrats who at first intended to vote for the Fordney bill are getting cold feet. They see the party advantage in opposing a measure which increases the cost of living. Even if the bill should pass the Senate and be vetoed by the president, friends of the measure admit there aren't enough votes in both houses to make the necessary two-thirds. Several of the Democrats in the House who vote for the bill on first passage will not do so the next time as the Democratic ranks have been considerably strengthened in the interval.

The fact that the pending tariff bill might benefit the sugar producers but might adversely affect the consuming public was brought out strikingly in the Senate debate as follows:

Senator King of Utah, (Democrat)—I have a great deal of confidence in the senator from North Dakota and in his desire to legislate for the interest of the American people. I have no doubt he has studied the question with much care, and I should like to ask him, in the light of his study of the question, what effect the pending tariff bill, if it shall be enacted into law, will have, directly and indirectly, upon the sugar purchaser—that is, the consuming public in the United States—to what extent it will raise prices.

Will Raise Prices

Senator McCumber of North Dakota (Republican)—I think temporarily it will raise prices, and naturally so.

Mr. King of Utah—Has the senator any idea how much the tariff duty will cost the consuming public and how much it will mure to the advantage of the sugar producer?

Mr. McCumber—Today it is a question of life and death to the cane-sugar producers. I believe in maintaining the sugar industry of the United States; I think in the end it will be beneficial to do so. I think it may cost the American public a little more, just now, to purchase their sugar should the bill become a law, but I think it is better that we should make the sugar industry in this country self-sustaining.

Mr. King of Utah—Has the senator from North Dakota any idea of how many millions, tens of millions, or hundreds of millions of dollars will be added to the burdens of the purchasers of sugar as a result of the enactment of this measure?

Mr. McCumber—I think it will be very few hundreds of millions if it adds to their burdens at all.

Class Legislation

Mr. King—The senator has called attention to the fact that unless this measure was passed the sugar industry might suffer materially. May I ask the senator whether it was the purpose of the finance committee to take care of all business enterprises in the United States in all lines of industry that were suffering during the present period of readjustment? If that be true, then we should take care of the laboring men who are thrown out of employment, we should take care of retailers who without fault have sustained great losses; we should take care of the cotton growers who have been compelled to sell their cotton, if they could find a market at all, at less than the cost price, we should be compelled to pay the wool growers

NO HOPE FOR QUICK PEACE WITH BRITAIN

DeValera Says Sinn Fein Is Willing to Accept Full Home Rule.

By United Press Leased Wire

Dublin—Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," replying to a questionnaire submitted by American newspaper correspondents indicated that hope of immediate peace with Great Britain has been shattered.

Replying to a question as to whether he had received any British peace offers, De Valera wrote:

"Yes, the same as those for the last seven centuries—namely, meekly to surrender and quietly allow ourselves to be trampled."

De Valera indicated that the Sinn Fein is willing to accept full dominion home rule when he wrote that "the present dominions have all the rights which the Irish republic demands."

The questionnaire outlined the Irish peace terms as follows:

"England to acknowledge Ireland's right as a free and independent nation as a preliminary because an agreement made under force or a supposed partnership which Ireland denies would be worthless."

"Britain should afterward negotiate with Ireland such partnership or alliance as the common interests of both might suggest, or on such terms as the people of both countries might agree upon. The people of Ireland have never denied the existence of such common interest. We have clearly shown that we do not insist on a policy of isolation."

SHEBOYGAN ORDERED TO USE CHLORINE IN WATER

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison—Sheboygan today was ordered to treat all city water with liquid chlorine after March 15 by the state board of health in an effort to stamp out typhoid prevalent there for several years.

The city water is taken from Lake Michigan and used without treatment. At the same time city sewage is dumped into the lake.

SHOOTS DIVORCED WIFE, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

By United Press Leased Wire

Corington, Ky.—William Vickers, 46, shot and killed his former wife and then committed suicide here this afternoon.

Police said the tragedy followed application of the woman to the courts for an order restraining her husband from abusing her.

The shooting occurred in the Vickers home.

10,560 BADGERS WERE INFLUENZA VICTIMS

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison—Influenza cost 10,560 lives during the winters of 1918, 1919 and 1920, it has been announced by the state board of health. The state board in arriving at the death toll deducted from the lists, assigning flu as the cause, the average number of deaths from pneumonia each year.

The state board has asked the joint finance committee to increase its appropriation from $145,000 to $245,000 in order to increase its public health work.

WETS MOVE TO KILL BADGER LIQUOR LAWS

Declare Mulberger Act Is in Conflict With Volstead Enforcement Law.

Dec's on Favoring Liquor Interests Will Make Badger Law Inoperative.

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison—The wet and dry forces of Wisconsin are lining up for the final battle through the courts on the question of concurrent jurisdiction.

The initial fight will be staged in Madison where Ralph M. Jackman, attorney for wet interests, will apply for a temporary restraining order in United States court to prevent T. T. Hazenberg from enforcing the Mulberger law, Wisconsin's enforcement act.

The wet interests will contend that the state enforcement act is contrary to the provisions of the Volstead act and that the federal law supersedes the state law.

Should the courts adhere to this principle, a restraining order will follow and state enforcement authorities held powerless in preventing the sale of liquor.

"I shall start this action in a few days," declared Attorney Jackman today.

"It will be a suit in equity brought in the federal court here. Two propositions will be involved; that the state law is in conflict with the Volstead act and that the federal law supersedes the state law when the two are at variance."

The dry interests have anticipated the suit and are prepared to meet the new issues, it was stated by officers of the Anti-Saloon league today. The Anti-Saloon league and the Proprietary association will assist the attorney general's office, it was stated by P. W. Hutton, Waukesha, league representative.

The issue is said to have been brought to a head when the state enforcement authorities refused permit for the sale of wine of people where it was believed to be sold for beverage purposes.

Liquor interests represented by Attorney Jackman denied the wine of people ruling forced action. It was coming anyway Jackman said, and will be carried to the United States supreme court for final adjudication.

"I cannot say who my clients are at this time," Jackman said.

"However, I have been paid the money to start the litigation and I assure you we shall go through with it. The large brewing interests of Milwaukee are not in anyway involved in this suit."

JUSTICE KERWIN DIES SUDDENLY IN MADISON TODAY

Neenah Jurist, Oldest on Supreme Bench, Was Head of Appleton Mill.

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison—Justice James C. Kerwin of the state supreme court, died unexpectedly here at noon on Saturday. He had been suffering from an illness for three years but was able a few weeks ago to take part on the bench and participate in the rendering of decisions.

His family was with him when he died.

He worked up to a late hour last night without any complaint of illness. At 2 o'clock this morning he became suddenly ill and a physician was called.

No arrangements as yet have been made for the funeral.

Judge Kerwin was the oldest member of the Wisconsin Supreme court in point of years. He was born in the town of Menasha May 4, 1850. He was educated in the common schools and graduated from the law school of the University of Wisconsin in 1875. He was city attorney for Neenah for 12 years. He was elected to the supreme court in 1904 and re-elected without opposition in 1914.

The decedent was president of the Riverside Fibre and Paper company of Appleton.

GREEK SOUGHT IN KIDNAPING CASE

Two Persons Suspected of Knowledge of Case are Killed in Accident.

By United Press Leased Wire

Los Angeles, Calif.—Miss Leta West, 28, and Charles Beverly, 30, said to have been shadowed for several days by detectives investigating the mysterious abduction of Mrs. Gladys Witherell from her Hollywood home, were killed early today in an automobile accident here.

Miss Westerm was employed as a stenographer by O. S. Witherell, husband of the victim of the mysterious kidnaping.

A "gray haired man" was sought by deputy sheriffs in a northern California city and another suspect described as "a Greek merchant," was the object of a police hunt in Los Angeles today in connection with the abduction mystery.

Officials investigating the kidnaping asserted they looked for the "break" in the case today.

Mrs. Witherell has been missing since Tuesday night when she was seen leaving her Hollywood home in company with a tall, gray-haired man.

Others declared the "Greek merchant" theory is the most promising clue yet discovered. A certain Greek merchant, they said, is believed to have reasons for wishing to harm the Witherell family. The man is a known enemy of a certain member of the family, and was heard to remark on the morning of Mrs. Witherell's strange disappearance that the only way to even the score was to "make the whole family suffer."

GETS DIVORCE NO. 2 FROM SAME HUSBAND

By United Press Leased Wire

St. Paul, Minn.—Mrs. Minerva P. Ramsey divorced from Rev. James R. Ramsey the second time today. A divorce was granted late yesterday when she testified her husband had frequently had intimate relations with Miss Olga Carlson, his stenographer, while traveling from town to town as organizer for a fraternal body.

Ramsey was arrested some time ago charged with violation of the Mann act in bringing Miss Carlson from Milwaukee to St. Paul.

Mrs. Ramsey was granted custody of a son.

The Ramseys were married in Leander, W. Va., Jan. 21, 1896, and divorced the first time in Texas in April, 1915. They were remarried at Kansas City June 7, 1916.

Ramsey made his home in Appleton with Miss Carlson for several weeks while he was engaged as organizer for a fraternal organization. He is said to have represented Miss Carlson as his wife.

WANTS HOLY JUMPERS TO RETURN PROPERTY

By United Press Leased Wire

Waukesha, Wis.—The Metropolitan Church association, commonly known as the Holy Jumpers, and its head, E. L. Harvey and wife, today were given twenty days in which to answer charges filed against the church by Miss Lillian Swanson of Chicago.

Miss Swanson charges that in March 1919, while a resident of Chicago, she was induced by missionaries of the church to turn over her personal property to the organization on promise of being made a missionary of the organization. She further claimed this request was complied with but instead of being made a missionary, she worked in the church office here for a year, spending most of her time making calendars. She asks return of property valued at $470.

Krohnberg, president of a waste factory here, was accused of using marked cards in a stud poker game at the home of Joseph Schenck, husband of Norma Talmadge. It was alleged he won $12,900 in a single pot.

NOT ALWAYS A CRIME TO PLAY WITH MARKED CARDS

New York.—It's no crime to play with marked cards unless it's proved you introduced them into the game itself, Judge McIntyre ruled today in dismissing the charge against "Last Card Louis" Krohnberg.

Premiers Agreed On Germany's War Bill

By United Press Leased Wire

Paris—The agreement fixing the amount of German war reparations was signed by the allied premiers at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon.

The protocol also fixed the dates for successive stages of German disarmament.

Official announcement was made that agreement distributed the annuities as follows:

Two of two billion gold marks each; three of three billion; three of four billion; three of five billion and thirty-one of six billion.

The exports tax will be 12 1/2 per cent.

The Brussels financial conference will reopen Feb. 7 and the reparations terms will be communicated to the Germans in London Feb. 28.

The disarmament periods have been prolonged to March 15, April 15 and July 1.

Premier Lloyd George will leave for London tomorrow.

The question of penalties for non-fulfillment is expected to result in a compromise. The French wanted occupation of the Ruhr district, while the British favored occupation of Hamburg. It was believed they would agree on seizure of the railroads and customs offices in addition to the regular treaty provisions.

The Austrian situation was taken up this afternoon, Premier Briand of France said.

"The allies are fully in accord," Briand told the correspondents.

"We are closer in agreement than ever before. There was absolute cordiality throughout today's conference. There was no difficulty in arranging the coal settlements. Penalties provided in the treaty of Versailles will be enforced in case the disarmament problem is not taken up. Austria will be discussed this afternoon."

RAILROADS PLAN TO CARRY APPEAL TO PEOPLE'S BAR

Rail Leaders Declare They Cannot Weather Storm Unless Wages Drop.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago—Wages of railroad workers must come down if the companies are to weather the industrial storm. Means of driving down the wages had not been decided upon by the labor committee of the association of railway executives in session here today.

Agreement was reached among the five members of the committee that drastic action must be taken immediately and that they would remain in session until they had decided what this action would be. They hope to make announcement on Monday of what steps will be taken.

Best information today was that the railroads would carry their case to the public, offering to reduce freight and passenger rates, provided they can lower the wage scale.

Another plan under consideration was to appeal to the railroad brotherhoods to accept a "voluntary" cut within the next 30 days. However, the brotherhoods are known to be prepared to oppose any attempt at reduction and labor board is doubtful if this would prove successful. In the event of its failure, they would go immediately before the United States railroad labor board and demand "emergency relief."

Railroad brotherhoods obtained the last increase for the men on the basis of "emergency relief."

Whatever plan is adopted, a strong effort will be made by the railroads to obtain the public support and approval of their action. Some members of the labor committee suggested making public "payroll secrets" which they said would show huge amounts drawn by some classes of workers.

DRUG STORES HIT BY NEW BOOZE RULING

By United Press Leased Wire

Milwaukee—Even drug store booze is in for a set-back here.

Indictment of over one hundred alleged liquor law violators by the federal grand jury here shortly before the holidays, which drew jail terms for the offenders, has made moonshine scarce. Indications of further grand jury investigations have been made and beer is scarce. Now comes reports from authoritative sources that doctors won't get so many booze permits in the future.

Milwaukee physicians are now allowed a book of 100 prescriptions every two months. This is to be stretched to three months, according to reports today.

NON-PARTISAN'S RUSH CAMPAIGN IN KANSAS

By United Press Leased Wire

Fargo, N. D.—The Non-Partisan league drive in Kansas is on in full swing and organizers and campaign managers are being sent to Kansas from North Dakota. League leaders here admitted today.

All campaign plans have been discussed in recent conferences of President A. C. Townley with Kansas managers of the league and despite protests and threats from the American legion in Kansas, the work is progressing rapidly, organizers said.

OUR MARY WILL HAVE TO PLAY NURSE FOR AWHILE

Los Angeles.—Douglas Furber was under a physician's care at his home today as a result of a fall during one of his tumbling stunts before the camera.

"Doug" will be unable to mount his motion picture stunts for a month or more, as he sustained fractures of the bones in a fall out of a ladder. He was thrown back and landed on his head. While he was attempting to jump from a window, his foot caught and he fell six feet to the pavement.

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington—Forecast for period Jan. 31 to Feb. 6, 1921.

Region of Great Lakes. Unsettled with weather; cold and occasional snow; fell six feet to the pavement.

ALIEN LAND LAW KILLED BY PACT WITH JAPANESE

Senator Johnson Declares California Will Not Accept Agreement.

JAPS DRIVE GOOD BARGAIN

California Avers Orientals Have Gained All Their Points.

By Ralph H. Turner

Washington—The agreement between Ambassador Morris and Ambassador Shidehara of Japan, created a situation that is "intolerable" and that will be resisted in every legitimate way by the people of California, Senator Hiram Johnson, California, declared today.

While Johnson was attacking the proposal, Secretary of State Coby was conferring with President Wilson at the White House for the first time since the secretary left for South America about six weeks ago. It was expected that the Morris-Shidehara agreement would be discussed during the conference.

Johnson declared that the agreement abrogates and destroys the alien land law of California and gives Japan just what it wants. In the controversy over Japanese rights in the state.

The agreement he referred to is now in the hands of Secretary of State Coby having been submitted to him by Morris, following the closing of negotiations between him and Shidehara here this week.

"From authoritative source," said Johnson, "it is stated that the agreement between Ambassadors Shidehara and Morris embraces:

"(1) An exchange of diplomatic notes defining passport regulations, etc., which would 'lighten up' the present gentleman's agreement relating to exclusion of Japanese from the country."

"(2) A treaty defining the rights of the nationals of each country and which will, in effect, abrogate and destroy the alien land laws of the state of California."

"Stripped of diplomatic camouflage, this means that our representative and Japan's have agreed to the repeal of the land laws passed by the state of California and to the passage of those contemplated by many other western states."

"Japan has never insisted upon control of her own people and therefore will not agree to an exclusion treaty, but will enter into a so-called gentlemen's agreement which does not exclude."

More Immigration

"The new gentlemen's agreement notwithstanding its additional phases, can be just as loosely administered as the present one and just as in the case of the present gentlemen's agreement, it will be honored more in the breach than in the observance. The result will be, under the suggested arrangement, if adopted, a continuance of Japanese immigration and increase in the Japanese population in the west."

"Upon the meager facts now before us, the situation appears to be this: Japan does not like an American law and Japan protests that law. Resort is had, not to American courts, but to American diplomats. The protest is deemed of a sufficient gravity for American diplomats to agree to a treaty exactly as desired by Japan—this by a short cut, without participation by those most interested. A situation of this sort is intolerable and I think it is the sentiment of California when I say that in every legitimate and legal fashion the consummation of such a plan will be resisted."

PUNISH JAP SENTRY WHO SHOT AMERICAN

By United Press Leased Wire

Tokio—The Japanese sentry who shot and killed Lieut. W. H. Langdon, U. S. N., at Vladivostok three weeks ago, has been adjudged guilty in a report of a preliminary inquiry filed with the court martial in chief, according to a Vladivostok dispatch to the newspaper Jiji Shimpo.

The report, it was said, declared that the statement of the sentry did not agree with facts in the possession of the military authorities.

Details of the statement published by the newspaper Asahi and confirmed by the Kokusai agency that Americans are being placed under additional surveillance were made officially today.

FATHER SAYS DAUGHTER MURDERED HER MOTHER

Oak Creek, Colo.—Authorities today investigated the story told by Frank Madry, rancher, who last night accused his 15 year old daughter of killing her mother and burying the body three weeks ago on a ranch near here.

Madry told county officers that his daughter confessed to the murder of his wife and that he had been forced to bury the body in a shallow grave near the house. He said his daughter was a month and a half old when she was born.

$89,000 COLLECTED IN TAXES HERE YESTERDAY

Taxes to the amount of $89,000 were collected by City Treasurer F. E. Hochman Friday and the indications are that a still larger amount will be collected today. The 2 per cent fee will be added after next Monday. The law requires that after Feb. 1 all personal and income taxes collected must be turned over to the chief of police for collection.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kiss will leave Saturday evening for a business trip to Chicago.

Card Party by St. Agnes Guild at the home of Mrs. Dan Stansbury Wednesday February 2 at 8.

YOUR CHANCE TO BUY AN AIRSHIP AT A BARGAIN

Postmaster Gustave Keller will take your order for an airship at bargain price. The machine is one of the latest designs, in first class condition, and just the thing for summer trips, either by water or air.

Posters from the navy department announce the sale of more navy coast patrol ships through the Aero Marine Engine and Sales company, New York.

The ships are reduced in price from $15,450 to $6,160. They resemble the scaplanes used by the navy but are much larger and carry several passengers.

The government desires to encourage traffic by air and hopes planes will be purchased for commercial use. The purchaser is limited to one machine. Aeroplanes are recognized as a first line of defense, the circulars state, and the nation will be ready for any emergency if many men are trained in flying through commercial use of machines.

"FRIDAY" BOWLERS WIN GIRLS' TITLE

Excellent Scores Are Made in Woman's Club Ten Pin Tournament.

The Friday bowling team of Appleton Woman's club was declared the champion team of the club after the last game of the bowling tournament Friday evening. The winning team rolled up a score of 642 against 474 points made by the Tuesday team in the first game and 627 against 554 in the second, giving the Tuesday team second place in the tournament. Third place was won by the Monday team which made a score of 551 against 445 of the Thursday evening team in the first game, and 551 against 533 in the second.

Good individual scores were made considering that most of the girls bowled their first games last fall. Miss Bertha Kolitsch made the highest individual record with 155 points. Miss Adele Buske was a close second with 154. Third place was won by Miss Mathilda Stoeckbauer with 153 and fourth by Martha Wilson with 144.

A grand tournament is being planned for the end of the season. Better scores were made Friday than Thursday.

The individual scores are as follows:

Monday team—Nona Gerlach 134-84; Mabel Shiley 96-102; Lynda Hummel 80-78; Adele Buske 102-134; Laura Bohn 126-133; making a total of 551 for first game and 551 for second.

Thursday team—Olga Olson 87-118; Lella Flynn 91-119; Emma Johnson 96-117; Helen Weeks 94-79; Muriel Kelley 77-100; making totals of 445 and 533.

Tuesday team—Sylvia Roubesh 115-125; Gertrude Kessler 100-89; Martha Wilson 81-144; Mrs. Berringer 79-57; Ruth Weimar 99-115; making a total of 474 and 554.

Friday—Mathilda Stoeckbauer 126-155; Isabelle Speel 120-112; Bertha Kolitsch 155-132; Martha Koepke 104-118; Milly Voigt 107-100; making totals of 642 and 627.

The STAGE

Vaudeville Program

A dog, pony and monkey show is one of the features of the vaudeville program beginning Sunday evening at Appleton theatre. Other numbers are the Three Parkinsons, singers and dancers; Ted Cornell, singer; Lynn and Lora, eccentric comedy.

Minneapolis Symphony

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which gives two concerts in this city on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at Lawrence Memorial chapel, is now entering its eighteenth season, having been organized in 1907. During all this time it has had but one conductor, Emil Oberholfer, under whose artistic and energetic leadership the orchestra has developed into one of the greatest and finest in the country.

This organization, which is supported by a guarantee fund subscribed by the people of Minneapolis, has an annual home season of twenty-four weeks during which time it gives on an average of thirty-six concerts classified as follows: Twelve evening symphony concerts at which artists of international renown appear; twenty popular Sunday afternoon concerts, the soloists chosen from among the artist personnel of the orchestra, local musicians and rising young American artists; and four concerts for the students of the public schools.

In addition to the home concerts, the orchestra has been giving out-of-town concerts—last season to the number of one hundred and fifty-nine—divided into a mid-winter tour of four weeks which took them as far as Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., and a spring tour of nine weeks confined to Middle-western territory.

The eighteenth season of the orchestra opens in Minneapolis on Friday, Oct. 22, and has been extended to twenty-eight weeks. The evening concerts being increased to sixteen, and the Sunday afternoon concerts to twenty-four.

Completes Well

William Kieffer, town of Freedom, has completed a new well on his farm, placed convenient to his barn and building. It was necessary to drill 135 feet into the earth. The shaft goes through 14 feet of rock.

Harvest Ice

Stroebe brothers are making their annual ice harvest in the vicinity of Stroebe island. They are supplying a number of small ice houses in that locality. The ice averages from 15 to 18 inches in thickness.

EXPERT WILL HELP PREPARE RETURNS

Court Decision of Capital Assets Confuses Corporation Taxpayers.

Chamber of Commerce members will be aided in solving their federal taxation problems by J. J. Tobin, taxation expert, who is to be here all day on February 10. He will especially advise business men on recent court decisions and treasury department rulings.

Mr. Tobin is connected with the firm of Archibald Harris and company, certified public accountants and counselors on federal taxation. He was formerly a field examining officer for the Chicago office of the treasury department. His firm is taxation counselor for the Appleton chamber and other industrial and commercial associations throughout the middle west. The pronounced stir in the industrial world as a result of the recent decision by District Judge Thomas of Connecticut, declaring profits on sale of capital assets non-taxable has led to a great deal of confusion as to just what policy should be followed by taxpayers regarding handling of such profits.

There will be a literal flood of amended returns and millions of dollars in refunds if the supreme court rules as this district court. It is believed that such a decision would outweigh in importance that rendered by the supreme court on stock dividend tax.

Mr. Tobin will be prepared to advise on this decision and other matters such as the one on inventories recently issued by the treasury department. The expert will also advise on general problems arising in the making up of current tax returns, but his service will not include actual making out of returns. The chamber will also receive a special tax service concerning further developments in these matters. Members are expected to have their questions fully prepared when they go to confer with Mr. Tobin.

Town Talk

Autos Collide

Automobiles driven by Dr. William Madison and Joseph Peitkewisch, 987 Fourth street, collided at the corner of Lawe and Pacific streets Friday evening. Both cars were slightly damaged but the drivers were unhurt.

Will Build Barn

John Rehfeldt, town of Grand Chute, is planning to build a modern barn on his farm this spring. Part of the material has already been secured for a frame building 26 by 52 feet.

Food Demonstration

Miss Mabel Burke, head of the domestic science department of the vocational school, will conduct a food demonstration at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Vocational school before the home economics department of Appleton Woman's club. The entire program has not been announced, but a demonstration of pie crust is to be included. Students of the vocational school will assist Miss Burke in the demonstration.

Case Set For Trial

The case of Lillian Black vs. Stephen Balliet, et al., which had its origin in the "night rider" raids during the war, was set for Feb. 8 early in December but nothing has been heard from the case since. Harry E. Shannon, clerk of court, wrote the attorneys Friday to notify him if the case is to be tried at that time so that he can give notice to jurors.

Seek Reservations

Atlantic City hotels are already seeking reservations of chamber of commerce members who plan to attend the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on April 25. Letters received at the Appleton office urge early ordering of accommodations to avoid the later rush. No delegates have been appointed from Appleton as yet.

Want Jobs Back

Practically all of the highway patrolmen, both county and state, have applied for their former positions. There are 17 of the former and 3 of the latter. The appointments will be made during the month of March.

Defends Chicago Man

John Wiener, Chicago, cue expert, was defeated in a three cushion billiard match by Harold Truitt Friday evening at Olympic billiard rooms. The score was 50 to 32. Some fancy shots by the contestants brought applause from the audience which gathered to watch the match.

NEENAH INVITES APPLETON MEN TO VALENTINE DINNER

An invitation has been extended to members of Appleton Chamber of Commerce to attend a Valentine dinner party of the Neenah Civic association Monday evening, February 14, at F. A. Cook armory. Allen D. Albert, former editor of the Minneapolis Tribune and past president of the International Association of Rotarians, is to speak. Secretary Corbett plans to attend.

The Neenah Civic organization was recently reorganized and has engaged a full time paid secretary. Questionnaires were sent out similar to those used in Appleton to ascertain the city's needs. A civic program is being outlined for the development of Neenah.

Several Appleton people were at Kaukauna Friday evening to attend the Knights of Columbus dancing party.

N. Rosenberg of Green Bay was here on business Friday.

SIMON HAS HAD NOTABLE CAREER

Speaker at Forum Sunday Evening Is Writer of Note and Able Lecturer.

Much of the material for the address of A. N. Simon, Evanston, at the Peoria Forum at Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening was gained through a tour of the war countries in 1919, just after the war. Mr. Simon speaks on "Human Nature and Industry."

The speaker is a native of Freedom and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he took special honors in economics. He spent four years in social settlement work as a socialist paper, but he broke with the socialist party at the commencement of the world war. He has been identified with such publications as the Chicago Socialist, International Socialist Review, the Coming Nation and the Milwaukee Leader.

Mr. Simon became organizer of the Wisconsin Defense league in 1917, after he discovered the attitude of the socialist party was not in keeping with his beliefs. He also had charge of the literary bureau of the Wisconsin Loyalty legion and was a writer for the committee on public information. Several books on economic subjects have been written by Mr. Simon.

Out of his wide experience and extensive travels, an address of most gripping interest, rich with interesting facts, is promised those who hear him Sunday. He is not only brilliant mentally, but has the ability to put his message across in the manner of a capable orator.

Miss Doris Brenner is to open the program with three organ numbers, "Light Cavalry Overture," by Von Suppe; "Meditation," by Sturges, and "Thanksgiving, Pastoral Suite," by Demarest. An open forum will be conducted following the address.

CHILDREN GET BULK OF H. ERB ESTATE

Will of Late Appleton Bankers Is Admitted to Probate in County Court.

In his will which has been admitted to probate and which is dated Jan. 19, 1920, Herman Erb requested that his body be cremated and the ashes placed in a metallic urn and the urn buried in the family lot at Riverside cemetery. He also requested that his funeral expenses be paid out of his estate. There is nothing in the will to indicate value of the estate.

His bequests are:

Five hundred dollars to the trustees of Riverside cemetery, the income of which is to be used in the perpetual care of the family lot.

Three thousand dollars to Marie Steenis Frank in the event that she survived him. The legatee is now Mrs. Erb, widow of the decedent.

One thousand dollars to August Ruhlander. Six hundred dollars to Carl Koeltke, a long time servant.

One share of stock in the Herman Erb Land company to Hattie Thiekens, a daughter.

One thousand dollars to Josephine Kanouse, granddaughter.

Two thousand dollars to Richard Thiekens, grandson.

The residue of the estate, real, personal and mixed, the amount of which is not mentioned, is to be equally divided between his three children, Hattie E. Thiekens, Laura E. Scott and Esther J. Raschig.

Laura E. Scott and Esther J. Raschig are named as executrices without bond. The will is in the decedent's handwriting and covers three pages. The witnesses are Robert W. Ebben and Arnold H. Welch.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zeh and son, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schlimm and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman of Greenville were guests in the family of Siegfried Lehrer Friday evening.

REWARD!

$20,200.00 IN CASH!

Search is being made for a certain young woman, believed to be residing somewhere in Wisconsin. Present whereabouts unknown.

IS SHE IN APPLETON?

The girl sought is young, beautiful, probably still single and it is believed may be employed as a clerk, stenographer or may be living with relatives. Every citizen in this vicinity is urged to aid in the search. Full details regarding description, reward, etc., will be published in next Sunday's Chicago Sunday Tribune.

CORBETT TO SPEAK TO SELLING CLASS

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Is Expert on Sales Instruction.

One of the best informed men in this section of the state on retail selling is to speak before the merchandising class Thursday evening at the vocational school. His ability and popularity in the merchandising field make him the equal or superior of many outside speakers, but he is right here in Appleton. The speaker is Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, and his topic is "Face to Face Salesmanship."

Many years have been devoted by Mr. Corbett to the selling field, both in teaching salesmanship and in selling goods or coming in contact with some of the country's biggest merchants. He has not taught classes for several years but has kept in close touch with the methods adopted by the best business houses.

Mr. Corbett was one of the pioneers in the movement for scientific salesmanship in Wisconsin. The idea of teaching it to salespeople was conceived largely by Arthur Frederick Sheldon, founder of the Sheldon school of teaching at Chicago. Mr. Corbett assisted Mr. Sheldon in establishing classes in various Wisconsin cities year ago, when merchants gave little heed to the idea. It gradually grew to be one of the most potent influences in the success of the modern store.

Mr. Corbett has assisted in conducting sales classes at the University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill., where he was secretary of the chamber of commerce. He has a fund of valuable knowledge that he will impart to the students here. A brief history of salesmanship, description of its fundamentals and mention of coming speakers whom he knows personally will be the main features of his address.

ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW CLOSSES SUNDAY NIGHT

Nearly 1,000 chickens, proud of the ribbons which decorate their coops, will be going after tomorrow night when the annual show of the Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association is closed. This year's show is one of the greatest in the history of the association. The birds are of exceptional quality and keenest interest has been shown.

No admission was charged this year, generosity of the county and state making it possible for the association to meet all its expenses without calling for support of the show patrons.

Judging of the exhibits is completed and the ribbons are in place. The show will end Sunday night.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ADOPTS NAME AND PICKS OFFICERS

Robert Zechbacher was elected president of class No. 3 of the Congregational Sunday school at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening. Other officers elected are Edward Hieseman, vice president; Carlton Steiner, secretary and treasurer. The class consists of the above named officers and Allen Bower, Clarence Nagreen and Robert Shepherd.

"Franklin Class" was adopted as the name. A fund has been started in the bank under the name "Franklin Fund." It will be used for church and mission purposes.

A program in Christian training in citizenship for boys from the "pioneer" book, will be followed. J. E. Donaldson outlined the program at the meeting.

The class meets once a month at the home of members.

Professor Is Pleased

Prof. Edward H. Gardner of the University of Wisconsin was pleased with the reception received here and the interest shown by the class in merchandising at the vocational school according to a letter received by Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce. He also commended the chamber for the quality of its monthly publication, Community Betterment.

DIG SPEAKERS ON REALTY PROGRAM

Men of Broad Experience Will Speak at State Convention Here.

More and more good things are in store for Badger Realtors as work on the program for the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers association convention here February 16 and 17 progresses. Daniel P. Steinberg, convention chairman, has received word that Kenneth R. Crumpton, Pittsburgh, Pa., W. C. Bradley, St. Louis, Mo., and Benjamin P. Faust, Eau Claire, are to be among the speakers. There is also hope of obtaining United States Senator Calder of New York.

Mr. Crumpton is manager of the George H. Schwab organization, Pittsburgh, Pa., and will speak on "Proper City Planning and Zoning—Its Relation to Real Estate Values." This is one of the most popular subjects of the day to those interested in city development. The greatest activity in city planning is in the east and in securing Mr. Crumpton the association hopes to obtain the most advanced ideas. A conference on the subject is to be conducted following the speech, with opportunity to ask questions of the speaker.

Senator Calder is a real estate dealer himself. He is an expert on the housing situation and will speak on matters of general importance to real estate dealers if he is able to come. His presence here will depend largely on conditions at Washington.

Subjects of vital interest to the farm broker will be taken up by Mr. Bradley. He will speak on "Co-operation between Dealer and Farm Institute in Development of Wisconsin."

Perhaps one of the most interesting speakers will be Mr. Faust, who presents "Land Settlement Problems of the Great Lakes." He is vice-president of the Farm Loan bank, St. Paul, and is active in its management. He is also a regent of the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Faust had little means when he completed school, but conceived an idea which was scorned by those to whom he broached it. He believed the vast areas of cut-over lands in northern Wisconsin could be converted into prosperous farms if people were given a chance to buy and clear tracts over a period of years.

A large tract was purchased by Mr. Faust at a price of less than $10 an acre. He staked it into farms of 40 and 60 acres, leaving one or two acres for natural park. He cleared places for natural parks. He cleared five acres out of each 40 for tenants, erected plain but substantial houses, small barns and provided enough animals and personal property so a man could start farming. Each year the occupant cleared five additional acres of land, he was not required to make a payment on his principal. The plan worked with phenomenal success and not only did Mr. Faust realize a profit of more than $2,000,000 from his venture, but he has provided farms and homes for many families who had nothing when they came in contact with the large cities or in industrial towns. It is expected that Mr. Faust will relate part of his history at the convention.

SEVERAL BIG PARTIES ARE HELD IN FREEDOM

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Freedom—Mrs. Theodore Pennings has been confined to her home for the last two weeks with an attack of the grip.

A number of friends and relatives surprised Mr. and Mrs. Pete Van Den Berg at their home Friday evening. LOCAL BOWLERS COMPETE IN TELEGRAPH TOURNEY

The Interfactory Athletic League will take part in the second annual international telegraphic bowling tournament which will be held February 19. The tournament is for industrial teams all over the country.

Bowling in Appleton will be on Elk and Y. M. C. A. alleys. Any industrial team near Appleton may compete for the prizes which are offered by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. Prizes consist of several trophies and five Mineralite Bowling balls. The championship trophy will become the permanent possession of the team winning the event two years.

NEED MORE LEADERS FOR APPLETON GIRLS' CLUBS

There are a number of girls clubs under the auspices of Appleton Women's club. Some of the groups have formed Camp-Fire circles and others are forming Girl Scout troops. Leaders and guardians must be provided for these girls. Older girls do not have to be experienced in order to become guardians and leaders. They need only to be interested in younger girls. The directors will be glad to meet any girls who desire to become group leaders.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Pat J. Garvey, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Den Berg, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Van Den Berg, Miss Mary Garvey, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Van Den Berg and sons Theodore, Joseph and Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Garvey of Appleton, Joseph Garvey of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coenen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kieffer, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schouten and family, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Kieffer and family, Joseph and Clarence Kieffer, Clarence Van Rixel, Clarence McHugh, John Newcomb, Cyril Weyenberg and Miss Mayme Kieffer. The early part of the evening was spent in card playing, singing and music after which dancing was enjoyed until an early hour. Every dance from the fox trot down to the old fashioned quadrille was danced. Lunch was served at midnight. Mrs. John Newcomb, Theodore Van Den Berg and Mrs. John Scholl furnished the music.

The following young men attended the dance Tuesday evening at Watry's hall, Little Chute: John Newcomb, John, Theodore and Vincent Van Den Berg, Clarence and Joseph Kieffer, Clarence Van Rixel, Cyril Weyenberg, Nick Liesch, Clarence McHugh and Nick Huss.

George Van Den Berg and daughter, Barbara, Virginia, Dorothy, Genevieve and Lorraine of Seymour visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Van Den Berg Jr., Sunday.

Mrs. John L. Garvey and son Joseph made a business trip to Appleton Thursday.

TAXPAYERS CAN HELP THEMSELVES

Lonsdorf Urges Partial Preparation of Blanks Before Asking Assistance.

Fill in all the information you can on your income tax blank before seeking assistance on items you do not understand, is the advice of John A. Lonsdorf, county assessor of incomes. Now that most of the state tax blanks are mailed out, Mr. Lonsdorf is arranging the most efficient system possible to extend aid so that none will consume too much time and keep others waiting unnecessarily.

There are many items on which a person needs no help. Mr. Lonsdorf states, and these should be filled out before coming to the courthouse. Name, residence, wife's name and occupation are illustrations of this. Time may also be saved by figuring out interest paid by the taxpayer, so the person assisting will not be required to do this. Tax receipts from the previous year should be looked up so the amounts can be readily determined. Tax on residence is excepted. Expenses of a business should be figured up beforehand. Names of children and ages should be included. Gifts made to charitable, religious, scientific or educational associations should be listed in advance, giving the name of the donee. The law permits such sums to be deducted provided they are not in excess of 15 per cent of the taxable income.

With these items out the remaining items and complete the report so it may be mailed in. Blanks must reach the assessor before March 1.

TUESDAY VOLLEYBALL MEN WALLOP MONDAY TEAMS

Tuesday 5-15 volleyball teams carried off the honors in matches with the Monday 5-15 teams Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The Tuesday 5-15 seconds won two out of three games from the Monday 5-15 seconds. The scores were 15-9; 15-10; 15-8. The Tuesday first team also won two out of three games. They met the Monday 5-15 firsts. Scores were 15-12; 15-14; 17-15.

Miss Carrie Feuerfell is spending the week end at her home at Wittenberg.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY TO BE TAUGHT AT LAWRENCE

Several new courses will be introduced at Lawrence college next semester. A course in radio communication is planned for the science department. Radio telegraphy and telephony will be studied from a theoretical standpoint. The apparatus necessary for laboratory work will be installed at once.

The biological department offers for the first time a one semester course in genetics, the study of heredity. The class will meet at 9:30 Tuesday and Thursday mornings, and is open to juniors, seniors and sophomores who have had or are taking a course in biology.

A course in engineering geology is offered by the geological department for advanced students in geology. This class meets three times a week and is directly related to the course in economic geology formerly taught.

F. C. Sawtell of Rhinelander, was here on business Friday.

TWO SISTERS GET HELP

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it did for Them.

Hagerstown, Md.—"I was weak, overworked, and my periods stopped."

My body was swollen and often had pains so I had to lie down. I was treated by a physician, but he did not seem to help me at all. My sister had taken your medicine with great results so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am able to work and feel like working. I have been recommending your medicine to my friends, and you are welcome to use my testimonial for I can never praise your medicine enough for what it has done for me."—RHODA E. CARBAUGH, R. R. 1, Hagerstown, Md.

Women will tax their powers of endurance to the limit before giving up, and it is then some womanly ailment develops and they have to give up entirely. When a woman suffers from such symptoms as irregularities, headaches, backache, bearing-down pains, inflammation, nervousness and "the blues," it is well for her to profit by Mrs. Carbaugh's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

REWARD!

$20,200.00 IN CASH!

Search is being made for a certain young woman, believed to be residing somewhere in Wisconsin. Present whereabouts unknown.

IS SHE IN APPLETON?

The girl sought is young, beautiful, probably still single and it is believed may be employed as a clerk, stenographer or may be living with relatives. Every citizen in this vicinity is urged to aid in the search. Full details regarding description, reward, etc., will be published in next Sunday's Chicago Sunday Tribune.

A Few years ago a young man was found despondent on the streets of Los Angeles, California. A short time before he had left a Large Eastern University—in his final year—because of a school prank, and had gone west to seek his fortune. Sickness overtook and defeated him. He was taken in and nursed back to health and strength. A job was found for him as a street-car motorman. He was watched and encouraged.

Today he is—although still a young man—traffic manager of the Largest Electric Company on the Pacific Coast; receives a handsome salary; is married and happy with a lovely family of young Americans.

There is, in a Western State, a woman who has achieved marked success in educational circles. She is a frequent contributor to Educational Journals and is in great demand as a speaker at Teachers' Conventions and in Educational Councils.

Several years ago, as a girl, she made a misstep. A son was born to her in a rescue home. She and her babe were cared for and when she was able, a position as a school teacher was secured for her by the matron of the rescue home.

The son is today attending a very large, Middle Western University, preparing himself for an active and useful career.

These two cases were both handled by the Salvation Army. They are true cases and are typical of thousands which are being handled yearly by them throughout the country.

From its years of experience, the Salvation Army has learned that no man or woman—regardless of family, surroundings or training, is immune from extreme misfortune or temptation. Its institutions daily shelter many unfortunates who have received a setback through thwarted ambitions or blighted romance. Pitiful cases many of them—but none of them utterly hopeless.

From the most recent statistics 34,000 young girls in the United States, 1,000 in Wisconsin, annually make the same mistake which was made by the educator-mother mentioned above. To the thousands who are cared for in Salvation Army Rescue Homes every year, the same opportunities for re-construction are offered as were offered to and accepted by her.

Funds are now being raised in Appleton and Outagamie County for the support of local work and the erection in Wisconsin of the New Salvation Rescue and Maternity home.

Weigh carefully in your mind the value of this work to the City, State and Nation. If you feel it should be perpetuated and enlarged, be generous when approached by a solicitor. Remember that you are contributing not alone to a service for the present, but that such an institution will be of permanent and lasting value to the State and to every community in it.

If you have not been solicited by one of the workers for this campaign, cut out the coupon in the adjoining column, pin it to your contribution and send to the address indicated. It will be greatly appreciated and duly acknowledged.

THE SALVATION ARMY
We have heard a great deal during the last three or four years about making "America safe for Democracy" and countless other elements for which it was fanned it should be made safe.
It is our profound conviction that America is, and always has been, safe enough for all of the elements—religious, political or social—which it contains. No nation on earth presents the same abundance of opportunities—to rich and poor alike—to attain comfort prosperity and happiness. In no other country of the world is it possible for the Lincolns, the Edisons or the Rockefeller to rise from obscurity to fame and fortune—to reap the full benefit of sobriety, self-denial and toil.
Instead of trying to make America safe for anything or anybody, we had much rather spend our time and energy trying to make Americans fit and able to realize the boundless magnitude of their country's resources, and in giving the less fortunate real, practical assistance which will enable them to grasp the opportunities surrounding them.
There is one organization which has had this task as its sole aim and ambition—the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army has always believed that every man and woman, no matter to what depth of degradation and shame he had fallen, still possessed the spark of hope and ambition which could with care be fanned into the flames of glorious achievement.
The story of The Salvation Army's work in the United States—and around the world—is a romance of regeneration the like of which has never been penned. Men and women, boys and girls—human driftwood and derelicts of the lowest strata—have been snatched from the slime and filth of their environment, placed upon their feet and helped until they could stand alone, and then sent out into the world to live lives of usefulness and service—very often to save others from the same miserable existence which had been theirs.
By preaching the gospel of hope and salvation in the streets and the slums to millions of non-churchgoers; caring for the weary, sick and discouraged in their workmen's hotels; making over the wrecks of society in their industrial homes, and afterward finding them jobs through their free employment bureaus; doing their utmost to relieve the suffering and distress of the millions of poor who crowd the slums and poorer districts of our towns and cities; caring for the thousands of unfortunate girls who fly to them in their misery and shame, and making it possible for them to rear their unwelcome offspring as good Americans instead of recruits for the armies of crime and lawlessness—these are only a few of the means which the Salvation Army employs in converting the derelict into the useful citizen; "the tax consumer into the tax producer."

Real, genuine Americanization we would call this work. And there is no compliment or assurance of support which we are able to offer which could discharge our debt of gratitude to The Salvation Army for what it is doing to make this a better state and a better country in which to live.
We are soon to be given an opportunity to discharge a portion of our obligation to these people by contributing to the campaign being conducted in their behalf. Let us do so liberally and willingly. Let us place the tools in the hands of these efficient workmen, that by using them to help others, they may write their name still higher on the scroll of national and world achievement.

ON KEEPING THE SABBATH
Some 1900 years ago in the city of Jerusalem there went on a discussion concerning Sabbath observance, similar to the one now in progress. A preacher was going about proclaiming ideals new to the times. He shocked conservatives with new interpretations of Sabbath prophecies. His name was Jesus.

According to the gospel of Luke, Jesus was teaching on the Sabbath day. And He beheld a woman "that had a spirit of infirmity 18 years. And when Jesus saw her He called her, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And He laid His hands upon her; and immediately she was straight and glorified God."

Thereupon, a man opposed to Jesus and His teaching was "moved with indignation because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath." This man arose and addressed the multitude, saying, "There are six days in which men ought to work; in them, therefore, come and be healed and not on the day of the Sabbath."

"But the Lord answered him and said, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox from the stall and lead him to the watering?" And ought not this woman whom Satan had bound, lo, these 18 years, to have been loosed from this bond on the day of the Sabbath?"

On two other occasions Jesus clashed with the leading citizens of the community over Sabbath observance. On one of these occasions He healed a man with a withered hand and in response to protests He said: "I ask you, is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good, or to do harm? to save life or to destroy it?" He also gave a sharp answer to the scribes and Pharisees who protested because His disciples had plucked grain from the field and eaten it on the Sabbath.

Thus, it will be observed, the question, What shall and shall not be done on the Sabbath? dates from the dawn of the Christian era. And generally, as in the case of Jesus Himself, the question has been answered as condition, common sense and necessity dictated.

FOR WOMEN ONLY
Time, about 2,000 years ago:
The daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched-forth necks, walking and mincing as they go, and make a tinkling with their feet. The Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments, and their cauls and the chains, the bracelets and the puffers, the bonnets and the ornaments of the legs, and the headbands, the rings, the nose jewels, the changeable suits of apparel, the fine lines, and the hoods and the veils.—From Isaiah, Chapter 3.
Time, about 4,000 or 1,500 years ago:
In ancient China small round eyes were liked; and the girls were continually plucking their eyebrows that they might be thin and long.—From "Female Beauty and Ornament" by Isaac Disraeli.
Time, Early Eighteenth Century:
The ladies considering that the neck was a very modest part in a human body have freed it from those yokes, I mean those linen ruffs, in which the simplicity of their grandmothers had inclosed it. In proportion as the age refined the dress grew still lower. * * * Since the female neck thus grows upon the world, and the ladies seem disposed to discover themselves to us more and more, I would fain have them tell us once for all how far they intend to go.—Joseph Addison, English essayist, July 6, 1712, on "The Extension of the Female Neck."

Time, latter part of the Eighteenth Century:
Most ladies here have two faces: one face to sleep in, and another to show in company. The first is generally reserved for the husband and family at home; the other put on to please strangers abroad. The family face is often indifferent enough, but the outward one looks something better; this is always made at the looking glass where is settled the complexion of the day.
—From Oliver Goldsmith's "Citizen of the World."
Time, Nineteenth century:
It must have been the same poet who gave the girls full dress to the half-dress worn now by females of the better sort at parties. Already have the shoulders emerged from the supercilious enthrallment and their bold example will no doubt be rapidly followed by generally spirited demonstrations from the rest of the body impolite.—James Russell Lowell in his "Conversations on the Poets."

Time, today: Newspaper Headlines:
"Pastor Hits at Fashions" * * *
"Mother's Club Condemns Short Skirts and Silk Stockings" * * *
"Lip Sticks Taboo in High School" * * *
"Peek-a-Boo Waists Barred!"
Thus it will be seen the effort to reform woman's dress has been going on from Isaiah's time until this hour. And with what results?

TODAY'S POEM
(By Edmund Vance Cooke)
THE GAME
Some people tennis and some people bow;
Some prefer a run to a hole,
Some prefer to make their deuces do,
Some prefer a walk with a captain and a foe.
But best game of all I have known of
Is making a living for some one you love.

Summon your knowledge, and summon your nerve,
Summon your willingness some way to serve,
Then for the dash and the daring to win,
Then for the lesson to lose with a grin,
The gambler and scoundrel, the cheek and the shoe,
Making a living for some one you love.

What do we seek of our gods of the game?
Not gold, nor riches, nor laurel and fame,
Not sport of the tape, nor ease of the slot,
Not spite and bawling, nor merriment and doubt,
Nor rule of the serpent, nor price of the dove,
But making a living for some one you love.

THE SHORTEST MONTH
In the old days when the Roman rulers had nothing else to worry about, they did something to the calendar.
And February, it appears, was a victim. Originally, this perfectly good month had 30 days in leap years and 29 in other years. February to the Romans meant "to purify." It was the custom of the Romans to celebrate the festival of purification in February.
Julius Caesar named July in his own honor—he saw to it there were 31 days in it. Then along came Augustus, and a month was named for him, also. But August had only 29 days. So Augustus looked around and picked on February, which had no particularity to defend it. He just took a day off February and added it to his own pet month.

That's why February ordinarily has but 28 days, and why August has 31, in keeping with the dignity of its imperious namesake.
Miss Edna Rowell, 15, of Berkeley, Cal., suggested this to the University of California.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

LIME IN FOOD
In young animals—and man is an animal—it has been observed that a diet poor in calcium or lime does not produce such rapid growth as does a diet in which there is sufficient calcium.
I mention this fact because I receive so many letters from young persons who, in spite of my announcement forestalling such inquiries, seem to think that I can tell them how to grow taller. I can't. But I can tell them that young animals grow better if their food contains plenty of the lime or calcium salts.
Now let us mention some staple foods which are poor in lime salts, and some others which are rich in lime salts, and leave the young persons to be generous to themselves in eating of the lime-rich foods.
Poor in Calcium—Meats, sugars, beans, cereals, fats, oranges, white bread, refined (polished) rice, potatoes without skins.
Rich in Calcium—Cheese, eggs, milk, turnips, prunes, whole wheat bread, chocolate, almonds, cabbage (raw), peanuts, walnuts, brown rice, pumpkin, lettuce, celery, onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, spinach, asparagus, pineapple, oatmeal, potatoes with skins.

Professor Sherman of Columbia University advocates the mixture of simple lime carbonate with table salt in equal quantities in the salt cellar on the table, as a ready method of supplying the lime which is lacking in the average American diet. Of course if each member of the family consumes not less than one pint of fresh milk daily, and cheese is used as freely as it should be as a staple, there need be no anxiety about lime deficiency in the daily ration.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Eyesight and Kidneys
Please inform me whether an affection of the eyes can in any way affect the kidneys. (J. W. W.)
ANSWER—I can think of no such affection at the moment. But affections of the kidneys may seriously involve the eyes. The retina or optic nerve may be affected in Bright's disease, and the oculist, in the course of his examination, sometimes discovers conditions in the back of the eye which lead to a diagnosis of Bright's disease.
Cataract and Climate
I moved from New York to Spokane several years ago on account of cataract of the head and throat, chiefly. I have found no relief in Spokane. Do you think a different climate would be advisable? (Mrs. D. M.)
ANSWER—In my judgment little or nothing is gained by changing climate for any of the diseases which masquerade under the name of "Cataract."

Some Says
Please be so good and answer this question in your paper. Some says a seven months' baby can live, but an eight months' baby can not live. I am a practical nurse and it is important to know.
ANSWER—It is just one of the thousand fool superstitions bandied about by "some."
Good Hair Oil
You gave a recipe for some kind of oil for dry skin and dry scalp or hair, and several readers praised it highly. I wish you would publish that recipe again, as no doubt many would like to have it. (Mrs. W. P. J.)
ANSWER—A few grains of powdered benzoin should be dissolved for three hours over a water bath with each ounce of oil of sesame (also known as benne oil and teel oil), then three drops of absolute alcohol added for each ounce, and the whole filtered. A few drops of this may be applied to scalp or skin once or twice a day. Sesame oil does not dry so quickly as other oils, but it will clog in the skin.
Those Who Disagree With Milk
As a young man I found that milk or bread and milk did not agree with me. A good deal later I discovered that half milk and half cream agreed all right, and still later that by adding a few spoonfuls of lime water I could take milk or milk and cream without difficulty. I tell you this for the possible benefit of readers who may not find milk agrees. (J. P. W.)

Twenty-Five Years Ago
Saturday, Feb. 1, 1896
Nicholas Adrians, ex-county clerk, accepted a position in the Bank of Kaukauna.
District Attorney John Eottensen was at Kaukauna on business connected with an embassament case.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson entertained friends at tea and cards.
Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hammel of Kaukauna attended the minstrel performance at Ryan high school the evening previous.
A group of friends surprised Henry Schintz on the occasion of his thirty-fifth birthday anniversary. Miss Edna Hogan and Dan McDonald won the prizes at the card party at Columbia hall the evening previous.
Langstaff & Crosswell were awarded the contract for wiring the residence of George Silverthorn, at Vaucluse, for electric lights.
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hawes entertained several hundred guests at "Old Fellows" hall the evening previous. Large delegations were present from Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Kaukauna and other cities.
The young ladies of Ryan high school gave a minstrel performance the previous evening that was attended by a capacity house. The performance was put on by Miss Edith Silverthorn.
Miss Lizzie Berringer entertained at dancing at her home on Superior street the night previous.
Agent P. E. LaRowe of the American Express company unearthed from the old records of the office the first delivery receipt book used by the company when its business was established here in 1857. The receipt was of J. B. Harriman. The first entry in the book showed that on July 22, 1857, W. S. Warner received a package from Chicago on which he paid 60 cents charges. Among other names that appeared in the book were, C. P. Richmond, Sam Ryan, John Day, Sam Boyd, Anson Ballard, David Smith, E. C. Gott, A. H. Conkey and others.

THE QUESTION BOX

Q. What part of the human body is water? E. C. D.
A. Water forms over 60 per cent of the weight of the body of the average man.
Q. Why is New York called Gotham? F. H. V.
A. The term "Gotham" is applied to New York satirically. The allusion is to a parish by this name in England noted for the simplicity of its inhabitants.
Q. In the 15th century a collection of stories said to be by Dr. Andrew Borde was made about them including the hymn about the "Three Wise Men of Gotham." The term was first used by Washington Irving in "Salmagundi" in 1807.
Q. Will butter made of sweet cream keep better than that which is made from sour cream? L. M. C.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that butter made of sweet cream

Schools For Gifted Children
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—That the gifted child needs a special kind of schooling, just as much as the defective child, if he is to reach his full usefulness, is an idea which is gaining recognition in this country.
In Germany, it appears, it has been fully recognized. American educators are studying the German system of schools for gifted pupils. The Bureau of Education is giving special attention to the problem.
In a few American cities tentative efforts have been made to establish special schools or classes for the gifted.
The argument for such schools is this: Among school children is a certain percentage who are highly and specifically gifted. They are the children who will, or at least may, become artists, writers, composers, original scientific investigators, leaders in various lines. They represent nothing less than the future creative power of the race and of the nation. It is the work of such people that makes a civilization. The rest merely carry on what the creators start. Surely, then, these children are worthy of special attention. Surely an intelligent nation will make every effort to find them out and help them along. Yet this has never been done in this country.
It is useless to pretend that the regular school course is suited to the gifted child. The gifted child usually suffers in two ways. In the first place he does not take to the slow and prodding routine of it, and in the second place he gets no adequate training in his special line. The boy with a gift for drawing, for instance, is punished for making a cartoon of the teacher in the back of his book when he should be studying algebra. But if a school system knew how to use its human material, this boy would at once be out in an art class, and he would not be forced to take a great deal of mathematics, which perhaps he could neither use nor comprehend.
Underrid and tubercular children are placed in outdoor schools in many cities, and given suitable attention. The abnormally dull child is cared for in a special class, where his case is studied and he is taught as an individual so that what powers he has may develop. In an ordinary school room these types are unable to conform to conditions, and are a constant worry to the teacher. So they are provided for in most city schools. But the bright child, who is just as much in need of special attention, and so much better work it, is usually disregarded.
The German idea is to have the children who seemed brightest to their teachers observed for two years and given tests by a board of examiners and school superintendents. Those who seem promising during the trial year are dropped from the competition and put back with the regular pupils. The survivors are then sent to a school for gifted pupils and divided into classes, those who wish a classical course, and those who are more interested in a course with modern languages as a basis.
All this is purely academic. The pupils are taught the usual high school subjects, but the course is enriched, and adapted to their superior mentality. Many of them, presumably, will use the training as a foundation for university work and become writers, scientists, and statesmen.
This plan has been tried out in Berlin now for three years. In the main it is considered successful, and it is being extended to different parts of the country. The difficulties are in details—the basis on which candidates should be selected, and the character of the training to be given them.
It is interesting to note that the desirables are chosen by intelligence and psychological tests. Germany has always been a country where education progressed from one examination to another examination—all fact tests. The new measurement is entirely different. The various cities have their own tests, but in one city which is probably the best, the candidates are given a test of imagination, thinking ability, expression through language, susceptibility to fatigue, disposition and will, and power of observation.
The bright child will eventually be given a chance. Commissioner Claxton of the Bureau of Education is in favor of a branch of his bureau to study the needs of exceptional children, both those who are gifted and those who are deficient. Not very much is being done by the state for either type, but it will take longer with the gifted child to gain recognition as being with rights. He does not present the same appeal to sentiment as the pitifully stupid child, struggling to keep up with work that he cannot grasp. But he is worth infinitely more.

WIDOW OF SLAIN MAN GETS $3,800 DAMAGES
Marinette—The widow of Douglas Miller who was killed in an altercation with Emil Rasor, night watchman for the Goodman Sawyer Co., last summer, was awarded $3,800 damages in circuit court, against Rasor.
The court took the case into its own hands and settled the amount when the jury was unable to come to an agreement after an all night deliberation.
Rasor was acquitted of the murder charge in a previous trial and the widow at once brought suit for $15,000 damages against both the Goodman Sawyer Co., and Rasor. The court wholly exonerated the company in its decision.

Small Percentage Gifted
Judging by the results to date, the German school officials figure that about 1 1/2 per cent of the school population can be counted on to provide themselves with the extra trouble of special training. This percentage of our public school population would be about 300,000 children. While the advisability of special schools for these pupils in our country has not been considered, scattered attempts are being made in a few of our cities to recognize the rights of the bright pupil.
Milwaukee has adopted a system of promotion by subjects, so that the child who is slow at figures but can read anything does not have to spend months on reading books that bore him by their simple language. Instead, he may be in the fourth grade in reading, and only in the third in arithmetic. With this plan, the child who has difficulty with one or two subjects is less apt to become discouraged, because he does not have to repeat all the work of a grade in order to get a full set of passing marks. And, of course, the pupil who is bright can be promoted as rapidly as his work warrants. The objection to this arrangement, sometimes heard is that the pupil is apt to neglect the studies in which he is slow and get a one-sided education.
Detroit and some other cities are trying a different solution. They have each class divided into three sections—the brightest pupils in one, those of ordinary mentality in another, and those who are slow in a third. This is said to work very well.

Some such system as this is about all the public schools can do for the gifted child so long as he is kept with the others. He cannot be given much individual instruction. The teacher who has 25 pupils has an ideal class, and very few have so small a number of children as that. Forty members in a class is not unusual, and there are often more.
The bright child will eventually be given a chance. Commissioner Claxton of the Bureau of Education is in favor of a branch of his bureau to study the needs of exceptional children, both those who are gifted and those who are deficient. Not very much is being done by the state for either type, but it will take longer with the gifted child to gain recognition as being with rights. WELFARE WORKERS PRAISE CHILD BETTERMENT PLANS
(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Extension of present activities for the betterment of child health in the state has received the endorsement of organized welfare workers. At its last meeting the legislative committee of the state conference of social work passed resolutions favoring the expansion of child welfare work as planned by the state board of health, and approving adequate resources for the state board of control to enable it to administer with more effectiveness some of the present laws on child welfare, relating to delinquency, dependency and neglect.

Wisconsin Courts
To enact good laws and to faithfully enforce them does not insure justice. In England and America these conditions existed long before right relations were established between the citizens. Laws may be so drawn as to fully safeguard human rights and the executive officers may capture every culprit who violates them yet justice miscarry miserably. Courts must be convenient of access, open to all, and absolutely fair if the public good is to be advanced by the state.
To fulfill these three conditions of success is no easy task. Yet the democratic states have accomplished more in this direction in a few hundred years than was accomplished by the monarchies and aristocracies in the preceding five thousand. We in America may find many defects in our judicial system but it is the best yet devised.
Wisconsin well illustrates the organization and operation of the courts in the more progressive states of the Union. Our courts consist of two groups—regular and special. The regular courts consist of justice courts, circuit courts and the state supreme court. The special courts include the municipal courts and county courts.
The justice courts are generously distributed over the state. They have been established in each town, village and city, except Milwaukee. They are therefore, easy to reach. A justice of the peace, elected by the people, is in charge of each court. It has power to issue warrants for the capture of persons suspected of crime, summons which require a person to appear at a trial as a witness. He may also conduct minor civil and criminal trials. In all civil cases in which the amount in dispute does not exceed $500, and all criminal cases in which the penalty for the offense, as stated by the law, does not exceed a fine of $100.00 or six months in the county jail or both, the justice of the peace has authority to hold the trial. Should the civil or criminal matter be of a more serious nature the justice may conduct a "preliminary hearing," that is hear the accusations and the defense and decide whether the evidence is sufficient to justify a superior court in trying the case. The justice may solemnize marriages and perform certain minor judicial functions.
Municipal courts are special courts, so called because they are established, not by a general, but by a special law. These courts are established in cities or counties to relieve the work of the justice and higher courts. The courts are therefore located in such places and given such powers as may be necessary to make more efficient the administration of justice.
The county courts are located one in each county. The principal duty of each court is the settlement of estates of deceased persons, and the appointment of guardians for children and dependent persons. Instead of establishing municipal or inferior courts to relieve the justice or circuit courts it is now quite a general practice for the legislature to give county courts jurisdiction over certain civil and criminal cases. The jurisdiction is granted each court by special act and, therefore, is not at all uniform throughout the state.
The circuit courts are uniform in both organization and jurisdiction and so constitute a part of the regular judicial system. The size of each circuit is determined by the amount of judicial business done. At present the state is divided into twenty circuits. There is an average of three or four counties in each circuit. Two sessions of court are held regularly in each county. In Milwaukee County there are six circuit judges but in each other circuit there is but one judge. The legislature may change the circuits at any time, but the constitution requires that the boundaries be county lines.
The supreme court is the highest court of the state. It is composed of a chief justice and six associate justices, the chief justice being the member who has been longest in office. At present it is Robert G. Siebeck. The court holds its session, two each year, in the capital at Madison.
The judges in all Wisconsin courts are elected for a term of years varying from two to ten. This makes them quite subject to the will of the people. In order to remove them as far from political influence as possible, they are chosen, not at the general election in the fall, but at the spring election.
Speaking generally the system of Wisconsin courts is made responsible for the correct and just interpretation of all laws enacted by both the local units and the state. These laws must be justly applied in every case coming before the court otherwise the true purpose of the state is not attained. We must insist upon our courts adhering strictly to the principle of justice or our democracy is doomed.
(One week from today Professor Kinsman will describe "How the Laws are Enforced.")
Child Labor Laws
Has the Federal Government enacted any legislation regulating child labor? E. S. C.
Answer
The Federal Government has enacted laws regulating the labor of children. But such legislation can be made to apply only to commodities used in interstate or foreign commerce since Congress has jurisdiction only over such commerce. Most child labor legislation is enacted by the states, in each state. The principal duty of each court is the settlement of estates of deceased persons, and the appointment of guardians for children and dependent persons. Instead of establishing municipal or inferior courts to relieve the justice or circuit courts it is now quite a general practice for the legislature to give county courts jurisdiction over certain civil and criminal cases. The jurisdiction is granted each court by special act and, therefore, is not at all uniform throughout the state.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Use Apples! There is no fruit more satisfactory from every point of view.

Lime and iron both are found in apples. Lime is essential to digestion and iron to life itself.

And from a purely mercenary side apples are one of the cheapest fruits. A very diversified number of acceptable desserts use this fruit as a foundation. Served with top milk or cream "Brown Betty," "Apple Grunt," "Apple Tapioca," "Apple Custard" and a dozen or more others are delicious and nutritious as well.

Apples baked for the children's lunch is a dish that is a real standby, and should not be overlooked by any mother.

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST—Stewed dried peaches, ham, toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Creamed asparagus on toast, pickled carrots, warm gingerbread, tea.

DINNER—Pot roast of veal, baked sweet potatoes, canned string beans, banana salad, apple amber, coffee.

Sister Mary's Recipes.
Sweet potatoes are very easily prepared if baked whole in the skins. Scrub well and bake in a moderate oven. The skins are so thick that few people care to eat them, so it wouldn't pay to rub them with butter. The potato may be cut in half and the pulp scraped from the shell, seasoned, and put back to serve.

Deb Tells Some of Her Meeting With Ann At The Station

"You know, then, where Ann is?" I sat up in bed with a jerk. Deborah shook her head.

"The day before yesterday," she began.

"The day she disappeared," I interrupted.

"I went to the train to meet my mother. She has been in the west three months, you know."

"You took the train with her at Rayburn, I suppose?" I mentioned the suburban station at the west end of our town.

"And you saw Ann there?" I exclaimed eagerly.

Deb shook her head.

"I saw Van there," she said.

"Van?" I had suspected, but the truth, heard at last, stunned me.

"He had been assigned to the very stateroom my mother was vacating! Of course we were surprised to meet him. Mother was delighted. He's awfully popular with the older matrons, you know. And mother never gives up hoping that I'll marry Van some day and unite the fortunes."

Deb interrupted herself with a shrug.

"That happened down town, remember. It was almost dark when we reached our own suburb. As we left the train I saw a taxi tear up to the platform. I had just settled my mother in our auto when I saw Ann Lorimer jump out of the taxi and run for the train. I wondered why she hurried so and concluded that she didn't know that the train is held here while they switch on the diner. "Strange—that she's going east, with her husband in bed," I thought. Then, naturally, I thought of Van stowed away in his compartment, and of all the gossip about the two lately. There was just one thing for me to do."

Deb stopped as if she expected me to understand what was her inevitable duty without further words.

"I can't imagine what I'd have done under the circumstances," I said. "For goodness sake, go on, Deb!"

"Why, I did the perfectly obvious

thing," Deb exclaimed. "I told our chauffeur to wait for me, and without explaining to mother, I ran back to the limited. Fortunately, I caught up with Ann as she followed the porter into a compartment. Don't look so, Jane. It wasn't Van's. At sight of me, Ann flared up. You know her way."

"Take a cross child!"

"Then she realized that she mustn't assume that I was suspicious. 'Why don't you get up, are you going to New York, too?'"

"If you do," I answered.

"I don't get you, Deb, but of course," she rather stammered over this—"it will be simply grand to have you along."

"You don't mean that. Don't pretend. There isn't time," I said, as the diner jarred the sleeper. Get off from this train and go home or else I stay here!"

"She looked at me sharply as if she were trying to decide just how much I guessed.

"Oh, I saw Van two compartments back," I said. "Now, Ann Lorimer, you come with me or I go with you."

"She still hesitated and I added:

"Ann, if you'll come with me, I'll never tell a single soul about this. Nobody but you—and Van—and me will ever know."

were trying to decide just how much I guessed.

"Oh, I saw Van two compartments back," I said. "Now, Ann Lorimer, you come with me or I go with you."

"She still hesitated and I added:

"Ann, if you'll come with me, I'll never tell a single soul about this. Nobody but you—and Van—and me will ever know."

Deb Tells Some of Her Meeting With Ann At The Station

"You know, then, where Ann is?" I sat up in bed with a jerk. Deborah shook her head.

"The day before yesterday," she began.

"The day she disappeared," I interrupted.

"I went to the train to meet my mother. She has been in the west three months, you know."

What Can You Do Without Health? Register for it at the Club Rooms in the Classes and Clubs of the Woman's Club Recreation Department. New Semester begins Monday, January 31st. Only Fee 50c and $1.00 Membership.

As you know, between the two places the train stops at the Central depot."

"And you saw Ann there?" I exclaimed eagerly.

Deb shook her head.

"I saw Van there," she said.

"Van?" I had suspected, but the truth, heard at last, stunned me.

"He had been assigned to the very stateroom my mother was vacating! Of course we were surprised to meet him. Mother was delighted. He's awfully popular with the older matrons, you know. And mother never gives up hoping that I'll marry Van some day and unite the fortunes."

Deb interrupted herself with a shrug.

"That happened down town, remember. It was almost dark when we reached our own suburb. As we left the train I saw a taxi tear up to the platform. I had just settled my mother in our auto when I saw Ann Lorimer jump out of the taxi and run for the train. I wondered why she hurried so and concluded that she didn't know that the train is held here while they switch on the diner. "Strange—that she's going east, with her husband in bed," I thought. Then, naturally, I thought of Van stowed away in his compartment, and of all the gossip about the two lately. There was just one thing for me to do."

Deb stopped as if she expected me to understand what was her inevitable duty without further words.

"I can't imagine what I'd have done under the circumstances," I said. "For goodness sake, go on, Deb!"

"Why, I did the perfectly obvious

thing," Deb exclaimed. "I told our chauffeur to wait for me, and without explaining to mother, I ran back to the limited. Fortunately, I caught up with Ann as she followed the porter into a compartment. Don't look so, Jane. It wasn't Van's. At sight of me, Ann flared up. You know her way."

"Take a cross child!"

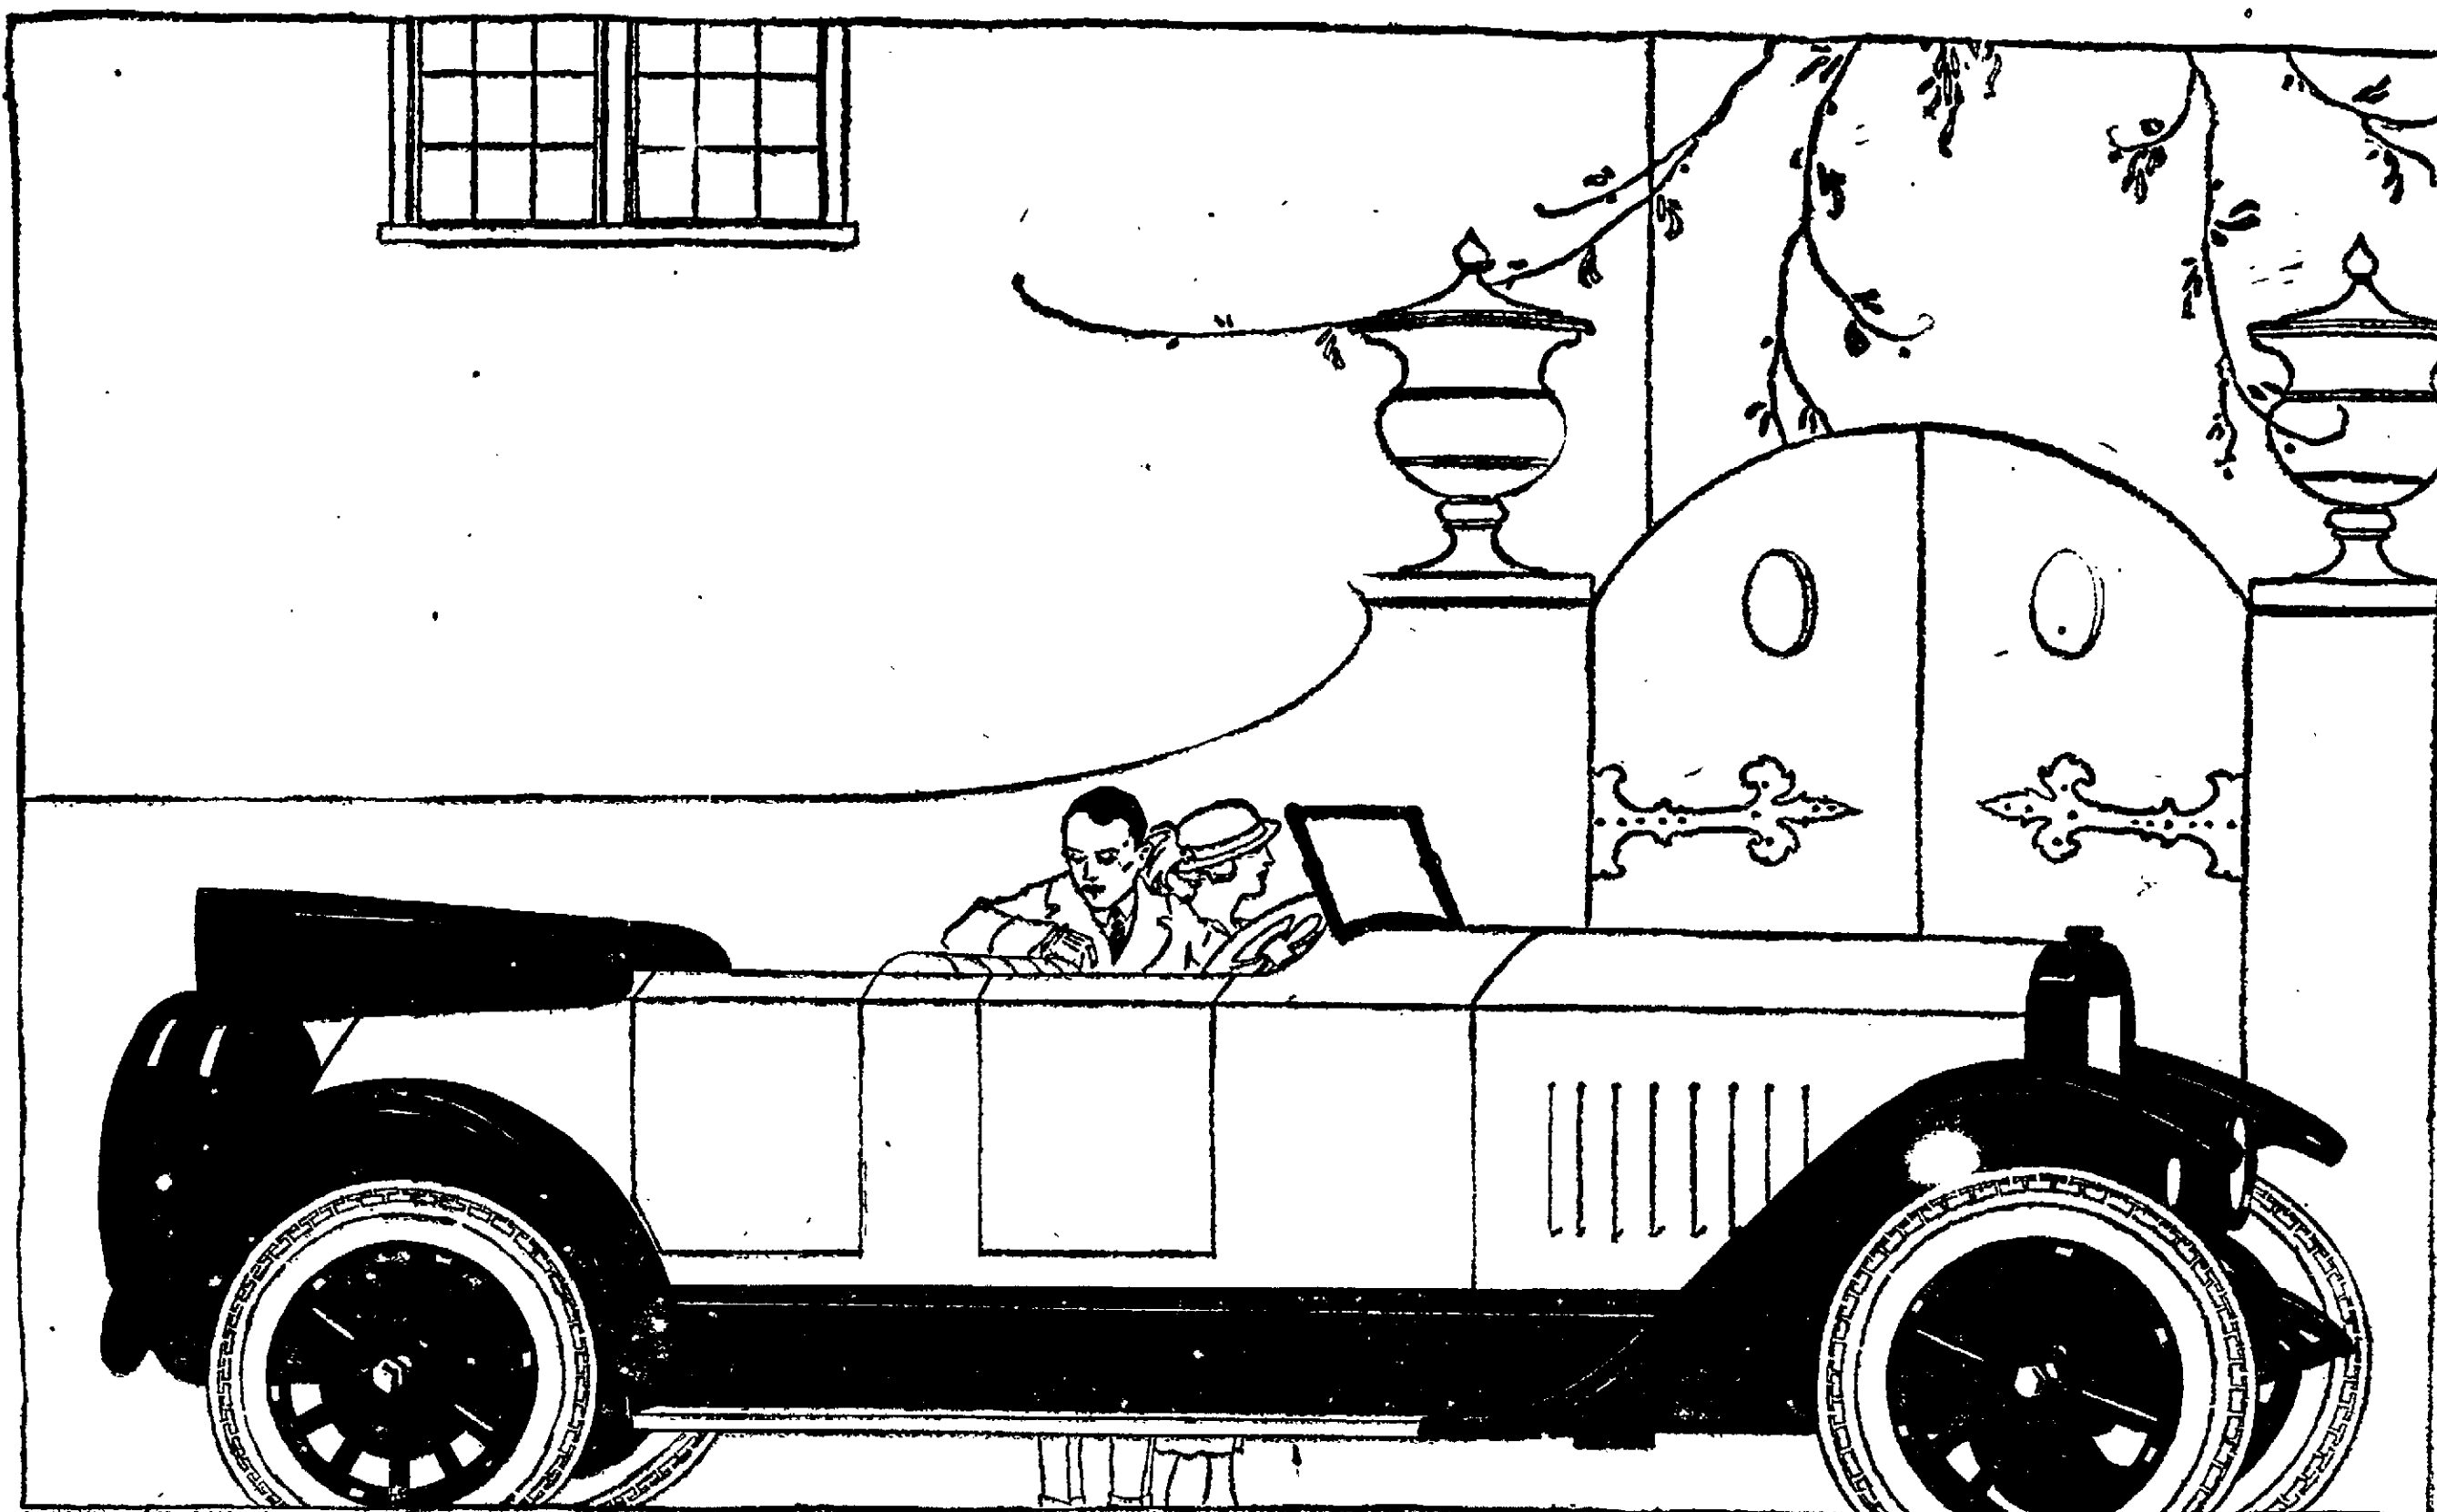

"Then she realized that she mustn't assume that I was suspicious. 'Why don't you get up, are you going to New York, too?'"

"If you do," I answered.

"I don't get you, Deb, but of course," she rather stammered over this—"it will be simply grand to have you along."

"You don't mean that. Don't pretend. There isn't time," I said, as the

BUY THAT CAR NOW

THE only sure way to have that new car next Spring is to buy it NOW. You gain nothing by waiting—but you may lose much.

You remember less than a year ago it was almost impossible to get delivery on any car at any price.

Take Advantage of This Buyer's Market

NOW you can get any car you choose at a lower price and we will protect you against price drop to July 1st. But if you hold off—and expect to buy in the Spring you may not be able to get delivery, for automobile factories are only working to part capacity to supply present demands.

When Spring buyers rush in it may take months before you can get your car.

Don't Be Caught Napping

Get in ahead of the rush. Look back and you will see that conditions changed from a buyer's to a seller's market over night. The swing back may be just as quick.

Today is a buyer's market. Take quick advantage of it, or you may have to buy your car on a seller's market next Spring.

Foresight Beats Hindsight

Enjoy that car now and be sure of having it next Spring. If circumstances prevent you using it now, we will store it for you until March, free of charge.

—But BUY THAT CAR NOW. You have much to gain, nothing to lose.

Price Protection Guarantee

We guarantee all purchasers will be protected against any price drop until July 1st. In case of a price advance the purchaser of course has benefited by his forethought in buying now.

LAWRENCE HAS AN EASY TIME WITH CARROLL CAGERS

Blue and White Basketball Team Scores at Will Friday Night.

Lawrence topped the wings of Carroll basketball team Friday night at Alexander's gymnasium, by winning an easy game, 28 to 16. From the time the ball was tossed, Lawrence had the advantage. Wheeler, center, out jumped his opponent and the ball found just where he directed it every time.

Carroll did not once for the score, in fact, she was kept busy keeping down the Lawrence count. A large number of fouls were called on each team. Carroll center, Duhm, made two free throws, while Wheeler made them all but one.

The Blue and White got an early start. On the first toss up, Wheeler knocked the ball to Basing, who scored a marker on a long high shot. Sorenson was fouled shortly after but Duhm failed to make the free throw. Wheeler made the score one higher on a foul, and a few minutes later Carroll was given two chances at free throws. Duhm made the last shot on the second try.

Basing Scores Again

Another long high shot by Basing passed the score to 5, and a minute later Wheeler made it 6 on a free throw. Duhm, Carroll center, made a free throw, and raised their total to 8. A long try for basket netted another marker for Carroll. They missed a chance to tie the score on a foul, and in another moment Lawrence made a basket.

Kubitz went into the game for Smith, and after amusing the crowd by fouling his opponent he made a try for basket and was successful. The half ended with the score 10 to 6 in favor of the Blue and White.

Scores on Wild Shot

Basing started the excitement in the second half by fouling, but Carroll missed the chance to score. Kubitz made a long shot, and the ball dropped through without hitting the ring. Kubitz got too peppy then and the referee called him for a foul. Dieckman, Carroll guard, took a desperate chance from nearly the middle of the floor and the ball fell through the basket.

Carroll was given a free throw, but missed, and the ball was passed rapidly down the hall for a basket by Basing. Sorenson went out and Collins took his place. Another series of fast passes and dribbling added two points to the Lawrence tally. Smith added two more. Baskets fell thick then. Basing added another and soon after Wheeler made a difficult shot for a basket. Basing grabbed the ball after Carroll had tried for a basket and shot it nearly the length of the hall to Wheeler who tossed it over his head into the mesh.

Wheeler and Basing played stellar basketball for Lawrence, although all the men seemed to be playing tip-top games. Duhm was the big man for Carroll.

The lineup: Appleton—Wheeler, center; Basing and Bosch, forwards; Smith and Sorenson, guards.

Carroll—Duhm, center; Thomas and Dieckman, forwards; Doane and Golder, guards.

Boxing Growing in Popularity Here

Badger Commission Asks for $2,000 More for Expenses During 1921.

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison.—Women are attending boxing exhibitions in increasing numbers, Walter H. Liginger, member of the state athletic commission, said here today.

It has become a fad of society women to attend the shows and the women are giving evidence of becoming real boxing fans, Liginger declared.

Boxing is on the increase in the state due to the activities of the American legion posts, Elks and Knights of Columbus organizations.

Last year the commission collected $17,516 at the licensed bouts and expects to exceed this sum this year because of the growth in popularity of the sport.

Liginger appeared before the legislative finance committee yesterday to seek an increased appropriation.

"You say you collected $17,516 on an appropriation of $3,200," said Senator George Staufenmayer, Portage, member of the committee.

"But how much did the state lose monthly because of these shows?"

"I don't think, senator, the state lost anything monthly," replied Liginger.

Liginger asked an increased appropriation of $2,000 to cover additional expenses for the coming year.

"ITS HONOR I'M AFTER, NOT MONEY," BIG JESS WILLARD DECLARES

(Copyright, 1921, by N. E. A.) New York.—Dollars! Gushing dollars!

"I've made a million of 'em!" says Giant Jess Willard.

The ex-champion—so rich he puts—has his ex-champion heart set on beating Dempsey.

"What do I care for money? It's nothing," says Willard.

"I cleaned up almost $750,000 in oil alone in two years."

"You betcha I did. Ain't that more'n I could get in the ring in 40 years?"

"And Uncle Sam bought my circus livestock. Wagons and all brought me $225,000."

The millionaire fighter laughed a Kansas farmer laugh as he nailed the "Willard wants to fight for money" story.

"I'll fight Dempsey any place—for nothing if necessary."

"What do I care about the gate receipts? Nothing."

"It's the crown I lost I want back, and I won't be happy without it."

Buys Home in West

Jess came to New York to take care of business matters. Oil leases and final legal papers for his $400,000 home in Hollywood, Calif., which he's just bought, are on his mind.

Being a millionaire hasn't kept Jess from taking exercise.

Back on his Kansas farm near Topeka he's been pulling weeds, hoeing his potatoes and chopping wood.

"My gymnasium for two years has been the great outdoors."

"When I meet Dempsey in March the world will see a different fight."

His Toledo Daze

"I'm going to win. I lost to Dempsey by accident. He hit me when I broke clean in a clinch. After the first round started I never knew I was in a fight."

"And if I win this time I'll defend my title against 'em all."

"If I lose—well, I can't say right off what I'd do. Rattle, I suppose. I ain't figuring on that."

Weight a Secret

After the millionaire handles his financial business he'll look over a training camp in New Jersey.

Refusing to give data on his weight or his waist line, the giant shifted his underpinning. For Jess is bigger than ever. The scales look like he'd run 'em up to 260 at least.

His Own Boss

"And tell 'em I'm my own manager, too. Ray Archer just handles my business affairs for me."

"I can handle myself best when left alone."

With that the biggest man who ever went down in a prize ring faded out of the picture—all smiles and jingling his oily dollars.

He claims he's in better shape than when Dempsey kayaked him in Toledo. Jess looks it.

Outdoor His Gym

"Ever since the fight at Toledo I've been working out. Not strenuously, but exercising."

PATRONS MUST ASK FOR NEW PILGRIM STAMPS

There has been only a small demand for the special postage stamps issued in honor of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the pilgrims. The postoffice ordered a liberal supply so all who wished them could be supplied.

Pictures commemorating notable events of the landing are inscribed in the center of the stamps, which are of 1, 2 and 5 cent denominations. Patrons are expected to ask for the stamps in case they want those of the pilgrim variety instead of the regular kind.

SPECIAL REFERENDUM ELECTION TUESDAY Important Measure—Be Sure and Vote!

Bay, the second team was battling for its life in Kaukauna, finally winning the game, 20 to 19, in a five minute overtime tussle. Johnson scored the winning counter on a free throw.

The first half of the Green Bay game was slow and listless, Appleton ending the period on the long end of a 12 to 6 score. Coach A. K. Vincent speeded up his men in the second period and they sailed into the home crew, marking up 18 counters while Green Bay was scoring six more.

The following men faced Green Bay: Laughlin, center; Jacobson, Courtney, Zussman, forwards; Bloomer, Hagen and Roach, guards.

Kaukauna put up a terrific fight all during the game, frequently leading. The battle was more or less of a surprise for the Appleton boys who had expected an easy time. Johnson's eye for the basket in free throws practically won the game. He scored in four out of five attempts.

These boys played in Kaukauna: Gillespie, center; Mills, Fisher and Heideman, forwards; Johnson, Steadman and Ashman, guards.

Next Friday Appleton will play in Menasha. Neenah defeated Menasha Friday night, 24 to 9.

KUBITZ AFTER FOUR ATHLETIC LETTERS

Star College Athlete Is Making Name for Himself in Wrestling Field.

Ambition is Gerhardt Kubitz's middle name as the Appleton man who captured the championship football team his year has set for himself a task which has never before been accomplished in the athletic history of Lawrence college.

Kubitz is going after four "L's" in one year—in basketball, football, track and wrestling. Kubitz has proved himself an all-around athlete during his high school career and college career so far, but wrestling is a new game to him. However he started to make a record for himself when he upset the Kimberly-Clark heavyweight in the recent dual meet at Lawrence gym much to the surprise of the fans. With more experience he should make good in wrestling as well as in all the other sports he has tackled.

Kubitz, Captain Thomas, Alexander and Reindie, the big four of whom the college team boasts, will all be seen in action against the Y. M. C. A. team Wednesday evening at the Armory before the Hill-Romanoff battle.

The second annual dual meet between the two teams, Mark or Lester Anderson or Eddie Tink will represent the college in the 145 pound class. The race for this position is very close and Coach Atkinson will use all of these men in this meet if it is possible in order to get a better line on them.

Lally, playing with the Sox, hit the wood for a 220 count and J. J. Plank, with the Reds, was a close second. He scored 225 in the last game.

ROMANOFF IS MUCH HEAVIER THAN HILL

Local Grappler Will Me Under Somewhat of a Handicap Wednesday Night.

Undoubtedly Hill's supreme test will come next Wednesday night when he meets Indiana's best. Young Romanoff of Gary, claims this distinction. The big fellow who possesses more weight than Carl Zoll, will come here more highly recommended than any who has yet invaded this city. He is usually fast and knows the secrets of the art of wrestling. His victories are confined to practically the same class of men that Hill has met. His record is one of complete success and victories with surprisingly few defeats.

Hill is not going out of his class in meeting the Hoosier. He is confident as usual.

It is customary for Hill to win his matches in a comparatively short time as possible before his opponent can wear him down. If Romanoff shows any willingness to mix things Hill's task will become much harder, as twenty-five or thirty pounds sometimes prove to be a big asset in the wrestling game.

STAR BASKETBALLER LEAVES BUSHEY SCHOOL

The Bushey basketball team will be somewhat weakened for the balance of the season through the loss of Kenney, who left yesterday for Niagara, Wis., where he has accepted a position in the statistical department of the Kimberly-Clark Co. office.

Mr. Kenney has established an enviable reputation in basketball during his course at the Bushey school, and his loss will be keenly felt. His going, however, gives him an opportunity to keep up his athletic work in addition to gaining a strong foothold in a business way. He has made many friends in Appleton during the year he has spent here. He will play the balance of the season with the Niagara basketball team, and will be seen in action here against the local K.C. team on Feb. 5.
